BPW Considers 2 Street Sewer Jobs

Roosevelt Park Section, Meade, Grant Streets Being Studied

Sewer projects for streets in the Roosevelt Park sector and on Meade and Grant streets were considered by the Board of Public Works at its meeting yesterday.

The board held for later consideration the renewal of a street lighting contract, the spraying of city-owned trees and the solving of a Chapel street drainage problem.

City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan was authorized to prepare plans and estimated costs for a proposed sewer project in the Madison avenue, Colfax Place, Harding avenue, and York Place areas of Roosevelt Park.

The board also decided to confer with property owners in the Meade and Grant street areas on a proposed sewer project in that area.

Seepage Basin Suggested

On the Roosevelt Park proposal the city engineer said residents of Madison avenue and Colfax Place had suggested a seepage basin at the intersection to be connected with the Albany avenue storm water sewer system.

This type of drainage system, Hallinan said, would work "only in high porous ground," the cause of drainage trouble in the area, he said, was "the blocking and diverting of a natural water course formerly running from Roosevelt avenue to Wrentham street." This carried the surface run-off.

The proper correction, he said, would be the construction of storm drains in the area to lead to the existing outfall sewer at Kiersted and Harding avenues. The problem, he said, was "much broader than this one intersection," and involves other areas, "if not all of Roosevelt Park."

Costs Are Estimated

On a request by Pangburn, Trowbridge and Stauble for a sanitary sewer to serve three lots on Meade street between Clifton avenue and Grant street, and on Grant street, from Meade southwesterly toward Lincoln street, the engineer submitted estimated costs.

The estimated cost for one on Meade street alone, he said would be $5,000, and the cost for lineal foot frontage would be $11.51, but if both Meade and Grant streets were done the costs would be $8,700 or only $5.94 per lineal foot frontage. He recommended the sewer because the area "is not favorable for septic tank operation."

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk suggested that the board meet with residents of Grant street "to consider the entire job."

John E. Egan on His Way to Kingston After Working on Reports

John E. Egan, of Woodstock, who maintains offices for practice of law at 41 Pearl street, was reported in serious condition at the Greene County Memorial Hospital, Catskill, this morning following an automobile accident on Route 9W about three miles north of the Coxsackie traffic light.

Egan, who is counsel to the New York State Joint Legislative Committee to Study Racing, had been working on the report of the committee yesterday in Albany. He had worked through the night on the report and had left for Kingston early this morning. The accident happened at 8:15 a. m. today as he was driving south.

Injuries Enumerated

At the Greene County Memorial Hospital it was reported he suffered a compound fracture of the right leg, possible fracture of the skull, possible fracture of the jaw and lacerations about the face.

State Trooper J. E. Pauquette of the Ravena sub-station, who investigated the accident, reported that the Egan car had left the road running to the right off the road a distance of about 25 feet when it struck a culvert and the front end was demolished. He said Egan had apparently fallen asleep at the wheel. Egan was riding alone.

Beside the general practice of law here, Egan had been engaged for some time with his duties as counsel to the Joint Legislative Committee studying racing and prior to entering private practice of law in this city he had been with the New York corporation counsel's office as an attorney at the Kingston office of the City of New York Law Department, handling legal matters in connection with the waterworks programs in this locality. Prior to making his home in Woodstock, he was a resident of Kingston.

His brother, Leo Egan, is the New York Times legislative correspondent at Albany.

Agency Told To Make Cut

Citizens' Group Advises Defense Department of Possible Saving

Washington, Feb. 19 (AP)—The Defense Department has been told by a citizens' commission it could save five billion dollars—which might mean balancing the national budget.

The commission advised the huge agency, whose outlays are more than half the government's total spending, to cut back 10 per cent across the board in men, money and material.

Some general ideas the commission offered for possible savings included extending the draft service beyond 24 months, cutting into "plush and extravagance" it said "have crept into all our military services" and pushing unification to eliminate "waste, duplication and overstaffing."

No Specific Ideas

But the commission's final report, replete with references to troubles it had in exploring "what is often called the Pentagon Jungle," made no specific recommendations for achieving the 10 per cent cut.

David Sarnoff, chairman of the board of the Radio Corporation of America, was named to head the commission when it was set up last fall. He made the report for the body yesterday, giving it as his personal opinion, concurred in by all but one member, that half a million military and civilian employes could be dropped gradually.

The proposed cut "could mean the difference" in balancing the budget, he said.

Commission member C. R. Smith, president of American Airlines, agreed on an overall economy target but said he could not be certain the manpower and money savings would be at the level recommended by the others.

Would Quit Job

Although it had been expected last November that the commission would continue its study for a year or two, Sarnoff asked that he and his colleagues be relieved of further duties.

He complained of failure of the Defense Department to provide adequate facilities and staff and said the services had handed over "voluminous, lengthy and complicated documents which leave the reader with a greater sense of bewilderment than he had before he read them."

Secretary of Defense Wilson said he agreed the "responsibility for decisions and action rests squarely upon the top echelons of the Department of Defense."

Copies of the report were sent to the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Range of Measures Given Study in Three Considerations

Washington, Feb. 19 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles has assured allied nations the United States is seeking to avoid "political embarrassments and troubles" with them in charting new moves against Red China.

One of several actions under consideration, Dulles told a news conference yesterday, is establishment of a naval blockade of the China coast. Another, he said, is stricter "enforcement" of United Nations recommendations against trade with China.

The whole range of "measures of varying kind which could be adopted," Dulles said, is under intensive study in the light of three considerations: "Their feasibility, their military consequences and the degree of political embarrassments and troubles that might be caused with our allies.

It was Dulles' first news conference at the State Department since he became secretary. There were no limitations on questioning and a variety of subjects was discussed.

Dulles was questioned at length about what the administration hopes to accomplish by repudiating "secret understandings . . . which permit enslavement of foreign peoples," as called for by President Eisenhower.

Would Serve Two Purposes

The proposed action, Dulles said, would serve these two primary purposes:

"One is to register dramatically what we believe to be the many breaches by the Soviet Union of the wartime understandings; and, secondly, to register equally dramatically the desire and hope of the American people that the captive people shall be liberated.

"This document or pronouncement is not intended to be a domestic political pronouncement. It is intended to be a pronouncement in relation to foreign policy, which I hope will receive and I think should receive a substantially unanimous backing in the Congress by the members of both the principal political parties."

His comments appeared to reflect some development or change in administration thinking. Previously the emphasis had been on repudiating agreements which "permit" enslavement. This was in line with Republican criticisms of the late President Roosevelt and former President Truman that in

No Public Probe Needed on Police, Impellitteri Says

Mayor Takes Stand After Halley Requests Such Inquiry on Secret Agreement

New York, Feb. 19 (AP)—Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri says he sees no present necessity for a public city inquiry into reports of a secret agreement regarding FBI investigations of cases of alleged police brutality here.

City Council President Rudolph Halley called yesterday for such an inquiry to determine whether Police Commissioner George P. Monaghan entered into a secret agreement with the Department of Justice.

The New York branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) demanded anew last night that Monaghan resign.

The controversy is over whether New York city police had received favored treatment over police in other cities in cases where the Department of Justice investigated complaints of civil rights violations based on police mistreatment of suspects or other persons.

Denies Understanding

Monaghan has denied there was any such understanding between police here and the Department of Justice. Former Assistant U. S.

U.S. Planes Blast Reds

Texan Becomes Double Ace With 10th MIG —Probe Halted

Seoul, Feb. 19 (AP)—U. S. fighter-bombers today blasted the smoking ruins of a Communist training center with tons of high explosives in their third devastating strike in two days.

Screening U. S. Sabre jet pilots shot down two Russian-built MIGs and possibly a third, the U. S. Fifth Air Force said. Col. Royla N. Baker, McKinney, Tex., shot down his 10th Red jet and became the second double ace of the Korean war. His score is topped only by Maj. George A. Davis of Lubbock, Tex., credited with 11 MIGs destroyed before he failed to return from a mission last year.

The air force said 195 Thunderjets and Shooting Stars unleashed tons of bombs, following up a 380-plane raid yesterday on the sprawling area near Pyongyang, North Korean Red capital.

Pilots reported the target was flecked with smoke and flame from yesterday's raid. Today's strike was the fourth in the area in less than a week.

Six-Day Bag Is 16

Today's toll of MIGs brought the six-day bag of Russian-built planes to 16, nine of them in two days. Additionally, 23 others have been damaged or probably destroyed.

Col. James K. Johnson, Phoenix, Ariz., was credited with the second MIG destroyed today. He now has 4½ destroyed, just shy of ace status.

The air force said the trip-hammer blows destroyed at least 150 buildings and knocked out tanks, vehicles and repair facilities.

Lt. Gen. Glenn O. Barcus, Fifth Air Force commander, said the Reds would "feel keenly the loss of the tank and vehicle repair facilities in addition to the many tanks and vehicles destroyed."

On the frozen battlefront, allied soldiers hurled back six small-scale Communist ground probes in brief, pre-dawn clashes.

Fifteen U. S. B-29 Superforts roared over North Korea last night and bombed Red supply and troop areas. B-26 light bomber pilots reported destruction of 116 Communist trucks.

Battlefront temperatures dropped to two below zero during the night.

Probes Beaten Back

The Reds hurled three probes against allied positions in the Kumhwa area of the central front. The squad-sized attacks were beaten back in sharp fights of 10 to 15 minutes.

Allied soldiers hurled back other Red probes southwest of Kelly Hill on the western front and west of the icy Nam river on the eastern front.

Two Red squads forced allied troops to withdraw from a listening post east of the Pukhan river on the east-central front. The Communists then attacked a

New Paltz Caucus Scheduled March 3; Interest Is High

Mayor, Village Trustee Are to Be Elected March 17 —Reid Said to Be Opposed

Designations made at the New Paltz village caucus usually amounts to election to village offices. With this in view there is presently much interest being displayed by prospective candidates who will go before the caucus on March 3, seeking designation for the offices of mayor and village trustee.

In the last ten years or more designations made at the village caucus have been tantamount to election so pre-caucus activities have been vigorous.

The caucus will be held on March 3, at 8 p. m. in the municipal building and the usual large turnout is anticipated. Village election is set by law for the third Tuesday of March, which this year will be March 17.

Several prospective candidates have thus far announced a willingness to enter the race but it is reported in the village that the field is by no means complete.

Pilch Opposes Reid

Dr. Robert Reid, present mayor of the village, is reported to be a candidate seeking re-election and Jesse C. Pilch, local variety store proprietor, has announced that he plans to oppose Mayor Reid for the nomination. A New Paltz citizen, who is prominently identified with village politics, stated today that there is a "strong possibility" that there may be other candidates.

Village elections are not conducted on a national party level but the candidates are designated as the "People's" and "Taxpayers" candidates.

Successful candidates must file

Halleck Says Outlook Represents 'Burden on Economy' After White House Talk

Washington, Feb. 19 (AP)—Congressional leaders of both parties reviewed the global military situation with President Eisenhower today, and a House member said afterward it was a portrayal of "a grim picture."

The Republican and Democratic leaders of the Senate and House spent an hour and a half with Eisenhower at the White House session.

They were briefed on Korean war strategy and the military and diplomatic situations elsewhere by Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, and by Allen W. Dulles, chief of the Central Intelligence Agency.

A presidential assistant, Robert J. Cutler, also took part in the briefing. He is in charge of liaison with the National Security Council.

After the session, Rep. Halleck (R.-Ind.), House floor leader, told reporters:

"Everybody knows it is a grim picture."

Another Congress member who attended said no conclusions were reached at the session, "unless you might say we are in a hell of a fix." He asked not to be named.

Senate Republican Leader Taft brushed by reporters, declaring he had "nothing, nothing at all" to say.

Then he tossed back over his shoulder as he strode from the White House:

"It was a briefing on a lot of facts, military and diplomatic."

Halleck called it "a very informative briefing," which he said covered the whole military outlook.

Dealt With Wars

He added that it dealt with both the Korean and the Indo China wars, among other things.

When Halleck declared that everybody knows the world situation amounts to a grim picture, a reporter asked whether he meant on a military or economic basis.

Halleck said he meant both and added that the situation represented "burden on the economy."

"The President said he wanted to tell us about the 'hot spots' generally," Senator Bridges (R.-N.H.) said on arrival at the White House for the session.

Bridges, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee and president pro-tempore of the Senate, was one of 12 senators and 13 House members invited.

Vice-President Nixon also joined the lawmakers for the meeting which is likely to affect important decisions and defense spending.

Officials Called Upon

Eisenhower called on Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff; Allen Dulles, head of the Central Intelligence Agency; Robert Cutler, White House liaison man with the National Security Council, and Budget Director Joseph M. Dodge to tell the legislators what the country is up against militarily and financially from the Iron Curtain in Europe to the fighting fronts of Korea.

Such a far-ranging review presumably would include possible new action against Communist China. Secretary of State Dulles said yesterday that every conceivable measure to stop the flow of military supplies to Red China is being weighed by his department—including a naval blockade.

Dulles was not scheduled to attend today's meeting, however, nor was anyone else from the State Department.

Senate GOP leader Taft of Ohio and House Speaker Joseph W. Martin, Jr., of Massachusetts headed the list of lawmakers invited. The chairmen and other senior members of the Foreign Relations, Armed Services and Appropriations Committees of both Houses were the others called in.

Young Soldier to Be Charged With Murder of Lieutenant

Fort Dix, N. J., Feb. 19 (AP)—A young Brooklyn soldier, described as a former mental patient, was held today in connection with the death of a lieutenant who at first was believed killed accidentally while on training maneuvers, army authorities said.

Capt. Harry Lapham, public information officer at this army post, said Pvt. Edgar Owens, 21, has admitted shooting the lieutenant in a signed statement, but that no motive was determined.

An investigation into the death last week of Lt. Richard M. Davenport of New London, Conn., determined that he "apparently was murdered," said Maj. Gen. Homer W. Kiefer, commander of the 9th Infantry Division.

"Owens will be charged with murder in the next 48 hours," Laphan said yesterday.

The first announcement of Davenport's death termed it a freak accident, because it was thought he was killed by fragments from a shell that exploded 225 feet away, far beyond the safety limit in training maneuvers.

But an autopsy later disclosed that it was a .30 caliber M-1 rifle bullet that killed the 22-year old lieutenant.

Owens had been treated at the Pilgrim State Hospital for about five months, and joined the army three months later, his father, William, told reporters in New York.

The father said the army "should have spotted him when he enlisted" and never should have accepted him. The soldier has a five-year auto theft record in New York, and served a term in Elmira Reformatory in 1949.

Davenport was fatally wounded Feb. 11 as he led his platoon in an assault maneuver. Live howitzer shells whistled above their heads.

RICHARD M. DAVENPORT

Platoon members carried loaded rifles.

Two days later, Owens went absent without official leave from the post, taking a car belonging to another GI, Lapham said. He was arrested over the weekend on the AWOL and stolen car charges.

The army investigation into Davenport's death, meanwhile, determined the angle at which the bullet entered his body from the rear.

Lapham said ballistics tests showed that the fatal bullet came from Owen's rifle.

The lieutenant was known as a strict disciplinarian, Lapham said. However there was no indication that Davenport had ever imposed any punishment or extra duty upon Owens.

Anybody Want Dead Whale? San Francisco Will Oblige

San Francisco, Feb. 19 (AP)—A weighty problem—about three decaying tons of it—was washed into the laps of San Francisco authorities last night.

And although everyone who might be concerned was contacted, they all had good excuses—involving even White House policy—to disclaim responsibility.

The problem was a dead whale the size of a small truck. It was first sighted—and smelled—rolling in the surf off the city's ocean beach by 12-year-old Norman Linoreaux.

Norman called Policeman Charles Sandoval, who agreed with Norman that something should be done about the (ugh) corpse. So Sandoval started the buck-pass by calling his sergeant at Taravel station.

"It's not in our district," the deskman replied. "Our district ends at the beach."

Next, the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals: "You can't be cruel to a dead whale."

Then, the coast guard: "That's out of our jurisdiction. It's on the tidelands—and didn't the administration promise to give the tidelands back to the states?"

The State Department of Fish and Game: "We're interested only in live fish and game."

The City Health Department: "What problem? — Maybe you've got the wrong number."

There was one hope—that the rising tide might carry the dead whale back out to sea.

Barring that . . .

Three Americans Are Slain, 5 Wounded by Allied Bombs

Seoul, Feb. 19 (AP) — Three American soldiers were killed and five wounded when an Allied warplane accidentally dropped its bombs behind UN lines, it was learned this week.

Air Force and Navy officers refused to discuss the incident, but the Far East Command in Tokyo said it had started an investigation.

An American officer of the unit hit said he understands one fighter-bomber pilot had trouble with his bomb release mechanism while flying toward the Chinese lines on the Western Front.

The explosives dropped on the administrative section of a front-line battalion. The section was about 2½ miles behind the lines.

"These men had never been bombed and their first reaction was one of surprise and shock," he said. "Then there was terror and panic and the wounded began to scream and moan."

Mac R. Johnson, correspondent for the New York Herald-Tribune, first reported the incident, but censors delayed his dispatch. Censorship also prevented identification of the unit that was bombed, or the officer who related the details.

It is the second accidental bombing of UN troops this year.

Fourteen American soldiers were killed and nine injured last month when an Allied plane bombed and strafed an artillery unit behind the western front.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force indicated Marine Panther Jets were responsible. The Marines have been making their own investigation but their findings have not been released.

An Air Force officer in Seoul today declared the Feb. 2 bombing did not involve an Air Force plane. The unspoken inference was that the Navy or Marines were involved.

City Council President Rudolph Halley called yesterday for such an inquiry to determine whether Police Commissioner George P. Monaghan entered into a secret agreement with the Department of Justice.

The New York branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) demanded anew last night that Monaghan resign.

The controversy is over whether New York city police had received favored treatment over police in other cities in cases where the Department of Justice investigated complaints of civil rights violations based on police mistreatment of suspects or other persons.

Denies Understanding

Monaghan has denied there was any such understanding between police here and the Department of Justice. Former Assistant U. S.

Young Soldier to Be Charged With Murder of Lieutenant

Fort Dix, N. J., Feb. 19 (AP)—A young Brooklyn soldier, described as a former mental patient, was held today in connection with the death of a lieutenant who at first was believed killed accidentally while on training maneuvers, army authorities said.

Capt. Harry Lapham, public information officer at this army post, said Pvt. Edgar Owens, 21, has admitted shooting the lieutenant in a signed statement, but that no motive was determined.

An investigation into the death last week of Lt. Richard M. Davenport of New London, Conn., determined that he "apparently was murdered," said Maj. Gen. Homer W. Kiefer, commander of the 9th Infantry Division.

"Owens will be charged with murder in the next 48 hours," Laphan said yesterday.

The first announcement of Davenport's death termed it a freak accident, because it was thought he was killed by fragments from a shell that exploded 225 feet away, far beyond the safety limit in training maneuvers.

But an autopsy later disclosed that it was a .30 caliber M-1 rifle bullet that killed the 22-year old lieutenant.

Owens had been treated at the Pilgrim State Hospital for about five months, and joined the army three months later, his father, William, told reporters in New York.

The father said the army "should have spotted him when he enlisted" and never should have accepted him. The soldier has a five-year auto theft record in New York, and served a term in Elmira Reformatory in 1949.

Davenport was fatally wounded Feb. 11 as he led his platoon in an assault maneuver. Live howitzer shells whistled above their heads.

RICHARD M. DAVENPORT

Platoon members carried loaded rifles.

Two days later, Owens went absent without official leave from the post, taking a car belonging to another GI, Lapham said. He was arrested over the weekend on the AWOL and stolen car charges.

The army investigation into Davenport's death, meanwhile, determined the angle at which the bullet entered his body from the rear.

Lapham said ballistics tests showed that the fatal bullet came from Owen's rifle.

The lieutenant was known as a strict disciplinarian, Lapham said. However there was no indication that Davenport had ever imposed any punishment or extra duty upon Owens.

Anybody Want Dead Whale? San Francisco Will Oblige

San Francisco, Feb. 19 (AP)—A weighty problem—about three decaying tons of it—was washed into the laps of San Francisco authorities last night.

And although everyone who might be concerned was contacted, they all had good excuses—involving even White House policy—to disclaim responsibility.

The problem was a dead whale the size of a small truck. It was first sighted—and smelled—rolling in the surf off the city's ocean beach by 12-year-old Norman Linoreaux.

Norman called Policeman Charles Sandoval, who agreed with Norman that something should be done about the (ugh) corpse. So Sandoval started the buck-pass by calling his sergeant at Taravel station.

"It's not in our district," the deskman replied. "Our district ends at the beach."

Next, the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals: "You can't be cruel to a dead whale."

Then, the coast guard: "That's out of our jurisdiction. It's on the tidelands—and didn't the administration promise to give the tidelands back to the states?"

The State Department of Fish and Game: "We're interested only in live fish and game."

The City Health Department: "What problem? — Maybe you've got the wrong number."

There was one hope—that the rising tide might carry the dead whale back out to sea.

Barring that . . .

U.S. Planes Blast Reds

Texan Becomes Double Ace With 10th MIG —Probe Halted

Seoul, Feb. 19 (AP)—U. S. fighter-bombers today blasted the smoking ruins of a Communist training center with tons of high explosives in their third devastating strike in two days.

Screening U. S. Sabre jet pilots shot down two Russian-built MIGs and possibly a third, the U. S. Fifth Air Force said. Col. Royla N. Baker, McKinney, Tex., shot down his 10th Red jet and became the second double ace of the Korean war. His score is topped only by Maj. George A. Davis of Lubbock, Tex., credited with 11 MIGs destroyed before he failed to return from a mission last year.

The air force said 195 Thunderjets and Shooting Stars unleashed tons of bombs, following up a 380-plane raid yesterday on the sprawling area near Pyongyang, North Korean Red capital.

Pilots reported the target was flecked with smoke and flame from yesterday's raid. Today's strike was the fourth in the area in less than a week.

Six-Day Bag Is 16

Today's toll of MIGs brought the six-day bag of Russian-built planes to 16, nine of them in two days. Additionally, 23 others have been damaged or probably destroyed.

Col. James K. Johnson, Phoenix, Ariz., was credited with the second MIG destroyed today. He now has 4½ destroyed, just shy of ace status.

The air force said the trip-hammer blows destroyed at least 150 buildings and knocked out tanks, vehicles and repair facilities.

Lt. Gen. Glenn O. Barcus, Fifth Air Force commander, said the Reds would "feel keenly the loss of the tank and vehicle repair facilities in addition to the many tanks and vehicles destroyed."

On the frozen battlefront, allied soldiers hurled back six small-scale Communist ground probes in brief, pre-dawn clashes.

Fifteen U. S. B-29 Superforts roared over North Korea last night and bombed Red supply and troop areas. B-26 light bomber pilots reported destruction of 116 Communist trucks.

Battlefront temperatures dropped to two below zero during the night.

Probes Beaten Back

The Reds hurled three probes against allied positions in the Kumhwa area of the central front. The squad-sized attacks were beaten back in sharp fights of 10 to 15 minutes.

Allied soldiers hurled back other Red probes southwest of Kelly Hill on the western front and west of the icy Nam river on the eastern front.

Three Americans Are Slain, 5 Wounded by Allied Bombs

Seoul, Feb. 19 (AP) — Three American soldiers were killed and five wounded when an Allied warplane accidentally dropped its bombs behind UN lines, it was learned this week.

Air Force and Navy officers refused to discuss the incident, but the Far East Command in Tokyo said it had started an investigation.

An American officer of the unit hit said he understands one fighter-bomber pilot had trouble with his bomb release mechanism while flying toward the Chinese lines on the Western Front.

The explosives dropped on the administrative section of a front-line battalion. The section was about 2½ miles behind the lines.

"These men had never been bombed and their first reaction was one of surprise and shock," he said. "Then there was terror and panic and the wounded began to scream and moan."

Mac R. Johnson, correspondent for the New York Herald-Tribune, first reported the incident, but censors delayed his dispatch. Censorship also prevented identification of the unit that was bombed, or the officer who related the details.

It is the second accidental bombing of UN troops this year.

Fourteen American soldiers were killed and nine injured last month when an Allied plane bombed and strafed an artillery unit behind the western front.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force indicated Marine Panther Jets were responsible. The Marines have been making their own investigation but their findings have not been released.

An Air Force officer in Seoul today declared the Feb. 2 bombing did not involve an Air Force plane. The unspoken inference was that the Navy or Marines were involved.

Witness

Stuart Ayres, acting chief of the Latin-American division of the "Voice of America," appears Feb. 18, before the Senate Investigations subcommittee as a witness in the group's inquiry into the propaganda broadcasting agency. Ayres testified that he suspects, but could not prove there has been "a premeditated, planned attempt" to draw the teeth from anti-Communist propaganda broadcasts to Latin-America by the Voice.

New Paltz Caucus Scheduled March 3; Interest Is High

Mayor, Village Trustee Are to Be Elected March 17 —Reid Said to Be Opposed

Designations made at the New Paltz village caucus usually amounts to election to village offices. With this in view there is presently much interest being displayed by prospective candidates who will go before the caucus on March 3, seeking designation for the offices of mayor and village trustee.

In the last ten years or more designations made at the village caucus have been tantamount to election so pre-caucus activities have been vigorous.

The caucus will be held on March 3, at 8 p. m. in the municipal building and the usual large turnout is anticipated. Village election is set by law for the third Tuesday of March, which this year will be March 17.

Several prospective candidates have thus far announced a willingness to enter the race but it is reported in the village that the field is by no means complete.

Pilch Opposes Reid

Dr. Robert Reid, present mayor of the village, is reported to be a candidate seeking re-election and Jesse C. Pilch, local variety store proprietor, has announced that he plans to oppose Mayor Reid for the nomination. A New Paltz citizen, who is prominently identified with village politics, stated today that there is a "strong possibility" that there may be other candidates.

Village elections are not conducted on a national party level but the candidates are designated as the "People's" and "Taxpayers" candidates.

Successful candidates must file

Halleck Says Outlook Represents 'Burden on Economy' After White House Talk

Washington, Feb. 19 (AP)—Congressional leaders of both parties reviewed the global military situation with President Eisenhower today, and a House member said afterward it was a portrayal of "a grim picture."

The Republican and Democratic leaders of the Senate and House spent an hour and a half with Eisenhower at the White House session.

They were briefed on Korean war strategy and the military and diplomatic situations elsewhere by Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, and by Allen W. Dulles, chief of the Central Intelligence Agency.

A presidential assistant, Robert J. Cutler, also took part in the briefing. He is in charge of liaison with the National Security Council.

After the session, Rep. Halleck (R.-Ind.), House floor leader, told reporters:

"Everybody knows it is a grim picture."

Another Congress member who attended said no conclusions were reached at the session, "unless you might say we are in a hell of a fix." He asked not to be named.

Senate Republican Leader Taft brushed by reporters, declaring he had "nothing, nothing at all" to say.

Then he tossed back over his shoulder as he strode from the White House:

"It was a briefing on a lot of facts, military and diplomatic."

Halleck called it "a very informative briefing," which he said covered the whole military outlook.

Dealt With Wars

He added that it dealt with both the Korean and the Indo China wars, among other things.

When Halleck declared that everybody knows the world situation amounts to a grim picture, a reporter asked whether he meant on a military or economic basis.

Halleck said he meant both and added that the situation represented "burden on the economy."

"The President said he wanted to tell us about the 'hot spots' generally," Senator Bridges (R.-N.H.) said on arrival at the White House for the session.

Bridges, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee and president pro-tempore of the Senate, was one of 12 senators and 13 House members invited.

Vice-President Nixon also joined the lawmakers for the meeting which is likely to affect important decisions and defense spending.

Officials Called Upon

Eisenhower called on Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff; Allen Dulles, head of the Central Intelligence Agency; Robert Cutler, White House liaison man with the National Security Council, and Budget Director Joseph M. Dodge to tell the legislators what the country is up against militarily and financially from the Iron Curtain in Europe to the fighting fronts of Korea.

Such a far-ranging review presumably would include possible new action against Communist China. Secretary of State Dulles said yesterday that every conceivable measure to stop the flow of military supplies to Red China is being weighed by his department—including a naval blockade.

Dulles was not scheduled to attend today's meeting, however, nor was anyone else from the State Department.

Senate GOP leader Taft of Ohio and House Speaker Joseph W. Martin, Jr., of Massachusetts headed the list of lawmakers invited. The chairmen and other senior members of the Foreign Relations, Armed Services and Appropriations Committees of both Houses were the others called in.

State Commerce Department Aids New York Firms

New York state firms doing business with Federal agencies are offered valuable assistance through the Washington Office of the New York State Department of Commerce, according to W. Dale Swartzmiller, manager of the department's regional office in this city.

With the entrance of a new administration upon the Washington scene, Swartzmiller stated, many procedures pertaining to defense and other governmental activities, as well as certain administrative agencies, may undergo reorganization. The State Department of Commerce Washington Office will keep abreast of day-to-day developments, he said, and will be able to counsel New York businessmen on changes in procedure and organization.

The Washington office, Swartzmiller pointed out, has been serving New York's business and industry in the nation's capital for eight years. It has represented the interests of the Empire State at Congressional and administrative hearings. It has expedited the business of thousands of firms dealing with Federal agencies. It has also uncovered defense and foreign trade business opportunities and has generally served as a guide to New York businessmen through the complex governmental structure which has grown up over the past 20 years.

One of the important services of the Department's Washington office, Swartzmiller said, has been its representation of the viewpoint and interests of New York state business and industry before Congressional and departmental committees on business legislation and regulation and other matters bearing on the welfare of the state. Another side of this picture, he said, is the Washington office's alert reporting of developments important to New York state arising both in Congress and in administrative counels. Transmittal of these reports to the department's main office in Albany and subsequent distribution to interested business groups and firms afford the department and the affected parties ample opportunity to make known their feeling on pending legislation and administrative rulings.

Many New York state firms have found it expedient, when doing business with federal agencies in Washington, to make initial and later contacts through the State Department of Commerce office in the capital, Swartzmiller stated. With its intimate knowledge of federal personnel and procedures, he explained, the Washington office is able to conserve the businessman's time and effort by arranging appointments and conferences with appropriate officials.

In many instances, the department's Washington office has saved firms the necessity of sending a representative to Washington by obtaining interpretations and rulings directly from the agencies involved and forwarding them through the main office or regional offices of the department. Equal familiarity with the problems of the New York businessman and with federal procedures enables the Washington office staff to accomplish missions of this sort with less difficulty than would be encountered by the uninitiated individual, Swartzmiller declared.

In its daily contact with all echelons of the federal government and with the embassies and trade missions of foreign nations, the Washington office often turns up trade opportunities for New York state business. Procurement needs of the various federal agencies, including the armed forces, are analyzed by the Washington office staff. The information is passed on to the Albany office which then rapidly circularizes it to all firms listed in the department's inventory of facilities likely to be interested. Similarly, the Washington staff pays frequent visits to embassies and trade missions of foreign countries, determines their needs for goods produced in New York state and forwards the information through the main and regional offices to interested New York firms. Advantageous offerings of goods and raw materials uncovered in this manner are likewise circularized to importers and manufacturers listed in the department's foreign trade files.

"To the average businessman, uninitiated in the ways of government," Swartzmiller said, "many federal procedures are quite incomprehensible. He is puzzled by the host of bureaus and administrations and the constantly changing regulations, many written in a complex language he cannot understand.

"Thus, to the average businessman, the department's Washington office is a godsend. It can help him find his way through interlocking agencies and complicated regulations to transact his business with the government. It can supply him with accurate information or bring him face to face in conference with the officials with whom he must do business."

The Washington office of the State Department of Commerce is located at 1026 17th Street, N.W., Washington, D. C., and its services can be enlisted through any of the regional offices of the State Department of Commerce, Swartzmiller said. The regional office of the department is located at 259 Fair street, Kingston.

Not until they had gone to the pit and checked the target themselves did the officers believe the raw recruit had accomplished the feat. Upon questioning, Pvt. Penicillin Helps Crops

Baltimore (AP)—When a tomato plant droops, penicillin may be the answer. The Maryland Vegetable Growers Association was told that minute quantities of penicillin can heal ailing crops of apples, potatoes, spinach or snap beans. Concentrations as low as a few parts of the antibiotic to a million parts of water controlled ring rot of potatoes, halo blight of snap beans and bacterial rot of spinach. Somewhat higher concentrations proved successful in checking apple and pear blights.

Local Guard Movie Shown at Rotary Club

The recruiting film, Target-Recruit, made in Kingston was shown Wednesday at the Rotary Club. Lieut. Col. Frank W. Harkin, commanding officer of the First Battalion, 156th Field Artillery, gave a brief talk about the selection of this city for the production preceding the movie.

The film, which will be shown throughout the country, is a story of the benefits offered by National Guard training and stresses the recruiting angle as handled by those serving in the military organization.

Local scenes and civic and business men of the community are shown in connection with the work of the National Guard. There are also scenes of the field artillery, tank corps, engineers and troops in training.

Bills Offered in Legislature

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 19 (AP)—A proposed two million-dollar "pilot" plan for three educational television stations appears headed for the same dark future in the legislature as the Regents' 10-station proposal.

A new bill by GOP Sen. Earl Brydges of Niagara Falls, chairman of the Senate Education Committee, would provide $1,150,000 for construction of the three "pilot" stations and $275,000 for each unit's operating expenses.

It also would continue for another year the temporary 15-member study commission on educational TV, one of the major issues of the current session. The commission is scheduled to make its report to the governor and the legislature next Wednesday.

But Brydges' proposal and the 10-station network sought by the Board of Regents are almost certain to be discouraged by Gov. Dewey, who is reported opposed to the program. The governor, however, has taken no public stand on the issue.

Wilson's Statement

Dr. Lewis A. Wilson, state education commissioner, told a newsman last night that the Brydges measure was not sponsored by the department or the Regents.

The department has estimated the 10-station chain proposed by the Regents would cost 3½ million dollars to build and 1½ million a year to operate.

The Brydges program would leave it to the commission to decide on sites for the three stations.

Smoother sailing was forecast for most of a bundle of Dewey administration bills designed to streamline the state's motor vehicle laws and give New York a uniform traffic code.

The measures were catalogued yesterday by weary clerks still digging through a mountain of bills offered Tuesday—the last day for the introduction of legislation without the approval of Senate or Assembly Rules Committees.

Sponsored by Committee

The traffic proposals were sponsored by the Joint Legislative Committee on motor vehicle problems and introduced by its chairman Sen. Seymour Halpern, Queens Republican.

The measures would:

1. Rid the roads of "creepers" by making deliberately slow driving a traffic violation. Halpern said safety experts contend "creepers" were responsible for many accidents.

2. Prohibit vehicles from following each other too closely.

3. Prohibit drivers from switching traffic lanes except where it could be done safely.

4. Outlaw U-turns on curves and grades where the visibility was less than 500 feet.

5. Clarify regulations governing left turns, the movements of vehicles and pedestrians at traffic lights and right-of-way rules.

Adoption Is Urged

In his annual message last month, Dewey urged the adoption of a uniform traffic code and "a broadly based traffic safety program." He called specifically for up-to-date provisions for passing on highways and for giving hand signals.

Measures to permit passing on the right and to provide definite hand signals were sponsored by the committee earlier in the session.

State law permits passing on the right only in New York city.

Other new measures would:

Extend one year, to July 1, 1954, the temporary commission studying rents and rental conditions. (Assemblyman Samuel Rabin, R.-Queens).

Require contractors to notify gas companies 72 hours before blasting within 200 feet of a gas main. (Sen. John D. Bennett, R.-Rockville Centre, and Assemblyman A. Gould Hatch, R.-Monroe).

Make it an unfair educational practice for an educational institution to accept an endowment or gift conditioned upon teaching the doctrine of supremacy of any race.

To Name Y Fund Chairman Feb. 24

The chairman of the YMCA financial campaign will be chosen at the board of directors meeting at the YMCA Tuesday, Feb. 24 at 8 p. m. The drive has always been held the last of April and exact dates will be arranged at this meeting.

The executive committee will hold a special meeting prior to the directors meeting at the call of President C. A. Baltz.

At the previous meeting it was voted to invite the Golden Age Club to have a special evening at the YMCA. Due to complications the date was changed and is now definitely slated for March 3. The program will include entertainment, games, tour through the building and explanation of varied program for all ages at the Y. Refreshments will be served.

COAL-STEEL PACT

Western statesmen and lawmakers will be haggling for months and possibly years over major strides toward the unity of Europe. But there no longer is anything theoretical about one vital phase of that program—the joining of Western Europe's coal and steel resources and facilities in one vast industrial complex.

As of now, the European coal and steel community is a fact, and that much of the great dream of unity must be accounted a reality.

Since coal and steel are the fundamentals of a modern industrial economy, this development is a long step toward the economic unity of Western Europe. But at the same time it would be wise to recognize the limitations of this notable move.

For one thing, it does after all embrace only coal and steel. Only with the experience gained in the operation of this plan will it be possible eventually to press for wider application to other industrial fields.

Secondly, Great Britain, one of the leading coal and steel producers, is not a member of the new community. The British have set up a committee to keep in close contact with the six-nation organization, but their absence from full membership unquestionably restricts the program's potential effectiveness.

And, of course, not even the most extreme optimist shuts his eyes to the fact that this experiment in continental unity is sure to creak and groan for a long time before it runs smoothly.

The officers of the coal and steel community are buckling down to a frightening task. In the months ahead they must slash their way through a jungle of restrictions of many kinds—tariff barriers, quota limits, discriminatory freight rates, price-fixing and production subsidies.

Inevitably there will be many controversies rising in the day-to-day practical working out of the project. Reality is almost always harsher than the dream.

Yet men everywhere who are wedded to freedom must pray that the community's able officials can ride out these beginning storms. It could well be that the whole cause of European unity—so basic to the broader well-being and security of the entire free world—will rest upon the success or failure of this first great unification effort.

OPTIMISTIC BUSINESS

It is not strange that Americans, remembering the prosperous days which immediately preceded the last depression, are wary of our present prosperity. In a sense it is good that some of the fear of a break in our economic fortune remains with us. It may keep us from over-extending and may encourage us to thrift and foresight: But it would be dangerous for us to allow our misgivings at the possibility of another depression to drive us to economic cowardice.

Joseph Meehan, director of the Office of Business Economics, United States Department of Commerce, said recently that informed American business leaders do not envision the possibility of a depression before the end of 1955. A survey taken by his organization among 2,000 concerns, which account for three-fifths of all non-farm investments in this country, showed that capital investments through 1953 will remain high.

American business learned much from the last depression. Since the thirties a great deal of thought and study has gone into plans for ways to meet depressions and ways to avoid them. Safeguards against panic and cushions against sudden declines have been worked out. Economic setbacks are still possible but the attitude toward them has changed. They are no longer considered inevitable.

If you think that steel is the nation's largest business, you may be wrong. Recently the steel industry was estimated at seven billion dollars. As much money is tied up in American art museums, says John Coolidge, director of Harvard University's Fogg Museum. The largest American museum, New York's Metropolitan, is worth well over a billion, and at least two or three others are worth many hundreds of millions apiece. Even a medium-sized museum, says Coolidge, must represent an investment between 50 and 100 million dollars of capital.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

GREAT CAUSES

Great causes are often corrupted by small men and become a caricature of the ideals and purposes of the founders. Many of the movements for human liberty degenerate into little bureaucracies out of which a petty jobholder makes a comparatively small living.

In the exciting days of the 1930's and 1940's, the Communists made great strides in this country, reaching, in their influences, as high as the White House. They infiltrated the Government, the universities, the theatre and other arts of expression. The ease with which the Communists were able to move was due to four causes:

1. The distress of younger people over the Depression;
2. The stodginess of older people in their support and expression of American ideals;
3. The failure of government to grasp the nature of the Communist conspiracy;
4. The support of Communist movements by the great powers of the Russian government.

Yet, it can be said that these anti-Communist movements naturally have a wide range both in personnel and in concept. There is no federation of anti-Communists. There are no officers to regiment men and women; there is no Executive Committee to purge recalcitrants. Each group and each individual does the work that knowledge and conscience permit.

During the past three years, two interesting tendencies have appeared. One is the anti-anti-Communist tendency. This appears in the writings of many former Communists and self-serving liberals who denounce Stalinism but are opposed to all efforts in the United States to investigate, analyze and extirpate Communism in this country.

Naturally, many of them are fearful that such investigations will ultimately disclose their past activities, although they now are no longer Stalinists. They want bygones to be bygones without paying for their sins.

These people live in terror that some witness before a Congressional committee will disclose their shame or that some newspaperman will bring them before the public eye. They live like cheats, not daring to confess errors as so many really brave men and women have done. They use their influence to ridicule Congressional investigations. Their present target is, of course, Senator Joe McCarthy. Their next target will be Senator William Jenner.

The other tendency is among the anti-Communist groups. They are not without sinful ones. This is a natural result of the current unpopularity of Communism. The trouble arises from the desire of many former Communists and many of those mentioned in investigations to be cleared.

No human being can clear another of error. Only the penitent, by confession of error, can clear himself. Only such public confession can win credence. Many have done precisely that.

Therefore, lawyers, investigators, fixers, etc., who, for a fee or for "expenses," as they sometimes put it, undertake to clear men and women of former and present errors, claim to do more than they can. There is a lawyer in Hollywood who engages in this business as a specialty. Most anti-Communists do not even answer his mail.

Anyone who pays to be cleared is a fool. All he needs to do is to declare himself publicly or to engage publicly in anti-Communist activities of his own choosing. In Hollywood, more than a hundred persons in the motion picture industry have found a public way of proving a real and unmistakable change of heart and it has not cost them a penny. In radio and television, the sponsors, advertising agencies and personnel are so scared that they are either unjust in their attitude that anyone who is "a controversial person" should not be employed with or without investigation, or they submit to what I believe to be blackmail.

It is a safe rule that anyone who takes money to clear a person of charges which imperil his livelihood is not an honest man. I can mention a long list of those who have generously and at their own expense helped ex-Communists along the only road to the respect of their neighbors, confession. Those who take money for this purppose are not straight. I do not include in this denunciation men who are openly employed checking lists of prospective employes against available data. I do include those who say that they can fix them in secret and get cash under the table. Nothing can be done by secrecy or crookedness.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

HOME LIGHTING

In these days when plenty of light is available for all necessary and unnecessary purposes, it would seem that there is little we need to learn about lighting the home. However, some simple but valuable advice is given by Edward K. Kraybill, of the Duke University electrical engineering department, in the Bureau of Public Information.

"Home planners too often make a backward approach to the problem of good lighting. Architects and interior decorators frequently think of good lighting in terms of decorative effects rather than good illumination."

Thus instead of considering the decorative effect first, they should work out the details of appropriate decoration after they have obtained the utmost in good illumination.

"Cutting out extreme contrasts of light and darkness is the keynote of good illumination. Eyestrain is often brought on by improper balance of lighting."

What are the "tips" or suggestions from this high authority on light of this renowned research university?

1. Avoid excessively dark walls, floors, and furniture which soak up light and cause harsh contrasts in lighting. Use light-colored, semi-transparent lampshades.

2. Plan for even distribution of lighting. Avoid dark corners. A person reading by a floor lamp in a semi-dark room will often turn the light down to its lowest level, not because light is too bright but because it seems to glare in contrast to the rest of the room. Naturally this brings on eye fatigue.

3. Avoid spotlights. Many modern lamps concentrate light in a small area. Unless used for highlighting a piece of furniture, they are the poorest kind you can have. They should never be used to provide reading light over beds, chairs, or desks.

4. Use floor lamps to supplement the general illumination of a room. Fluorescent lamps should be used with daylight or other general illumination.

5. Don't waste light. Most kitchens have lights in the center of the ceiling so best light shines down on the floor where it is not needed. A ceiling light is valuable for general illumination, but other lights should be over "work" places, such as sink, stove and counters.

I am quoting these suggestions because most of us may be following the architect and interior decorator in their distribution of light to obtain decorative effect rather than good illumination.

Can Be Done---But It Won't Be Easy

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA) — Brotherhood Week is an American institution, aimed primarily at encouraging Catholics, Jews and Protestants to live and work with mutual respect and harmony in this country.

But a look at the world's wars and revolutions of today emphasizes how much religious intolerance is at the root of all unrest. An international Brotherhood Week, practiced on a perpetual basis, would do more to restore peace to the world than any other one thing.

The whole campaign of Communist aggression is a war against all the religions of the world.

In Soviet Russia proper the latest manifestation is a purge of Jews alleged to be spies and enemies of the Communist state. It has been called the first revival of anti-Semitism since the end of the Hitler regime in 1945.

In Eastern Germany itself the Communist drive against the Jews is in fact analyzed as an attempt by the Reds to win the support of ex-Nazis for opposition to the Christian West.

In Poland, Czechoslovakia, Austria, Hungary, Italy and France, the propaganda of the Communists has been directed against the Catholic church. In Bulgaria, Romania and Greece it has centered against the Eastern Orthodox church.

In the Middle East, Communist troublemakers now appear to be giving support to the Arabs in their war against the people of Israel. In Iran and elsewhere throughout Islam, the Kremlin's agitators can be found stirring up opposition to the tenets of Mohammedanism.

Racial and Political Wars

Communism is anti-Buddhist in Tibet, anti-Hindu in India, anti-Moslem in Pakistan. Communist persecution of Christian missionaries throughout the Orient is notorious. A prime objective of the Chinese Reds has been to do away with the traditional ancestor worship.

But the antireligious character of communism is only one phase of the general practice of intolerance today.

There are seven wars going on in the world today in varying degrees of heat or cold. The revolt in South Africa is racial—black against white. The three related wars of east Asia—in Korea, Indo-China and Malaya — are largely political. They are Communist aggressions for conquest of native governments.

The trouble in Morocco is partly political in that it is native nationalism against French colonial rule. But there are also overtones of a religious war in this struggle — Mohammedan against Christian.

The other two wars in this list are still more in the nature of "holy" wars. In Kashmir it is the struggle of Mohammedan Pakistan against Hindu India. In the Middle East it is the war of Israel against the surrounding Mohammedans of Syria, Lebanon, Jordan and Egypt.

The territorial and political aspects of these conflicts are now subject to uneasy armistice. But final settlement is made next to impossible by the fires of fanatical, religious intolerance.

No Place in Democracy

It would be comforting to think that perhaps all this prejudice is a product peculiar to ancient Asia, and that it is unknown in the more civilized world. But such is not the case.

In Catholic Spain, Italy and Colombia, within the past year, there have been renewed violent attacks upon Protestanism. They have their parallels in the United States in Protestant opposition to the appointment of an American ambassador to the Vatican.

These are not easy things to write about. But they are facts that must be faced if the great American principle of Freedom of Worship, each man to his own conscience, is to have meaning.

If the ideal of Brotherhood Week, sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews, is to be made more than a ceremonial mockery, all narrow-minded religious hatred must be overcome.

The bigotry that has been stirred up by a few of President Eisenhower's official appointments has been unequaled since the Ku Klux Klan rode high and wide across the United States in the 1920's.

It began after the appointment of Martin Durkin, a Catholic, as secretary of labor. It was continued after the designation of Clare Boothe Luce, a Baptist-reared convert to Catholicism, as U. S. ambassador to Rome. On the other side of the fence was the criticism over the appointment of Dr. James B. Conant, a Protestant, as U. S. ambassador to the West German government dominated by Catholics.

Such talk has little place in a democracy that by its example hopes to lead the world along the paths of peace through tolerance.

Today in Washington

Stevenson Has Done More Harm Overseas to American Aims Than Anyone Else

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 19 — Adlai Stevenson starts on a trip to Asia soon, and the Eisenhower administration is asking American diplomatic representatives to extend to him all courtesies. But it would be a mistake for any foreign peoples to assume that the Democratic candidate for the presidency in 1952 speaks for the United States Government.

Mr. Stevenson, under the friendly guise of good-natured quips and humorous barbs, already has done more harm to the American cause overseas than any other critic, inside or outside the Congress, has done since the Eisenhower administration took office. Fortunately, most foreign governments understand that it is the business of opposition or factional leaders to try to make political capital as well as to misrepresent the facts of their own government's foreign policies. This is done regularly in Britain, France, Germany and Italy. But what is done by the opposition party in the United States is more important than what the European opposition parties say. For Soviet Russia is in a better position to capitalize on the criticisms made here than on those of Europe.

Without waiting to find out the truth of what did happen, Mr. Stevenson accused Secretary of State Dulles of issuing ultimatums to Europe—a statement officially denied by the secretary himself before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee last week. The former Illinois governor went further with a charge that the United States, in effect has a selfish, material interest in the money it is spending abroad. The Moscow Communist propaganda machine has been trying for months to get evidence of this charge, and will not fail to take cognizance of what it will regard inevitably as Mr. Stevenson's apparent confirmation.

The statement in the Stevenson speech of last week which damaged American prestige in Europe is the following:

"I hope I have misread the signs of the revival of the discredited 'dollar diplomacy.' I hope we are forging no silver chains."

This comment came in connection with American efforts to determine whether American billions should be continued to countries which, if unwilling to defend themselves, might bring about such a state of weakness as to cause American funds to be wasted or lost. This was the same principle applied in the previous administration. For Mr. Stevenson now to level the innuendo of "dollar diplomacy" is to imply that some new, selfish factor has been introduced by the new administration here in order to use American foreign aid to gain improper ends.

The phrase "dollar diplomacy" is explained in "the beards' basic history of the United States" as follows:

"Under Theodore Roosevelt's successor, William Howard Taft, who had beaten William Jennings Bryan in the election of 1908, imperialistic activity by the President received another name. Republicans now simply called it 'dollar diplomacy.' The rose under a new name meant that it was the duty and right of the United States government to seek out and protect opportunities that would allow American businessmen to operate freely in foreign countries and American bankers to make profitable loans abroad."

Surely there is nothing in the Eisenhower-Dulles-Stassen policies of extending aid under the mutual security assistance laws passed by the last Congress which could even remotely justify the charge that the United States is endeavoring to obtain advantages for its businessmen or bankers or that it is seeking some special privileges of a materialistic nature.

This, of course, is what Moscow has been saying ever since President Truman launched the Marshall Plan and the mutual security assistance plan, but it is surprising to have a former presidential nominee now attach the name "dollar diplomacy" to the very policies which are being continued by the new administration here.

Either Mr. Stevenson, in his anxiety to make clever phrases, didn't look up his history as to what "dollar diplomacy" means or he really believes the Eisenhower administration has some ulterior purpose of a material nature in its policies of foreign aid.

While Mr. Stevenson professed the greatest friendliness for the new administration and promised cooperation, his address, when read abroad, will be found to contain many sarcastic accusations concerning the good faith of the American government in its relations with European governments.

The opposition parties inside European countries which have been playing on the nationalistic and patriotic feelings of their own countrymen in criticizing American policies as those of a "bully" will find in former Governor Stevenson's attack on his own government the very ammunition they need to help undermine the Churchill-Eden policies in Britain, and the Mayer-Pleven policies in France and the Adenauer program in Germany. It is a speech that was lost in the giggles of an admiring audience of New Dealers in New York, but it will be an expensive speech for America when Moscow and the anti-American elements in Europe get through exploiting it.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Having laid the foundation of the Drew Pearson expose, I shall now develop the features of a series of weird conspiracies. The scenario includes a fantastic "anti-trust" suit against Senator Pat McCarran, of Nevada, augmented by a publicity and propaganda campaign to sway the court. In this suit, Pearson's lawyer, William A. Roberts, represents an ex-convict from Brooklyn who landed in Nevada as press agent for the Flamingo Hotel and gambling house operated by the notorious Buggsy Siegal underworld mob. Pearson's story of this McCarran lawsuit concealed the fact that the plaintiff was an ex-convict and an agent of the Siegal mob. The forces which have been smearing McCarran are, mainly, Communists and friends of Communists.

Pearson regularly employed two Communists as "leg-men." A third "leg man," Jack Anderson, who figures prominently in the case, latched onto the GI paper "China Lantern" in China just after the war. General Al Wedemeyer, then the China theatre commander, says this paper fomented insubordination to the verge of mutiny in line with the Communist scheme to disrupt the American fighting forces and get them out of Europe and China.

I come now to the case of a Chinese air force general named Pang Tsu Mow, who is charged with absconding from Washington to Mexico with about $7,000,000. The government of the Republic of China lays claim to this money, much of which Mow has sequestered in Switzerland. Pearson put his lawyer, Roberts, in touch with the fugitive general. Roberts is also Pearson's lawyer in another queer suit against Senator Joe McCarthy, the Washington Times-Herald, Fulton Lewis, Westbrook Pegler and others. The purpose seems to me to be to head off the expose of Pearson's lies and nefarious operations.

Last Dec. 2, in Washington, a subcommittee of the Judiciary Committee of the Senate took sworn testimony by John G. Broady, a New York lawyer representing the Republic of China in the effort to recover the money from General Mow.

Senator Arthur V. Watkins of Utah, presided.

Edward R. Duffy, investigator for the committee, used the word "embezzled" in referring to this money.

Broady said he had gone to Mexico in this quest and had met Felix Pichardo Estrada, an assistant attorney general of the Republic of Mexico, and a number of federal police.

"Mow," Broady said, "was then arrested * * * * and at the request of the procurator general's office, Dr. Liang Chien Cha, vice-minister of justice of the Republic of China, and myself went to the house which Mow occupied * * * to act as interpreters and translators in going over the documents found * * * * in Mow's house."

Mow had a white American girl with him as companion.

In response to questions, Mr. Broady said, "documents seized in Mow's residence on the day of his arrest showed that he had deposited $2,000,000 of Chinese government funds under his own name in the Chemical Bank and Trust Co., Rockefeller Center Branch, New York."

Broady said Mow asked him to "get in touch by telephone with his own attorney, William A. Roberts, in Washington, D. C."

Broady said: "I asked Mow whether Roberts had been paid and whether Roberts would be willing to render further services to Mow without an additional fee. * * * * Mow then told me that * * * he had paid Roberts and his firm several hundred thousand dollars. * * * I asked Mow how this money was paid. Mow stated in substance that the money had been paid to Roberts partially in currency, partially by drafts, and that, among other things, he, Mow, had also given Roberts one $100,000 U. S. Treasury bearer bill. I asked Mow what funds he had used to buy this U. S. Treasury bearer bill that he gave to Roberts and to buy other U. S. Treasury bearer bills that he admitted he had bought. Mow answered that he had used funds from his office accounts to buy them. I asked now on whose advice he had done this and he stated in substance that he had purchased these U. S. Treasury bearer bills on the advice and with the approval of William A. Roberts. Mow also told me in substance that Roberts had cashed this $100,000 U. S. Treasury bill through his broker in New York and had used part of the proceeds * * * * to pay the expenses of

COAL-STEEL PACT

Western statesmen and lawmakers will be haggling for months and possibly years over major strides toward the unity of Europe. But there no longer is anything theoretical about one vital phase of that program—the joining of Western Europe's coal and steel resources and facilities in one vast industrial complex.

As of now, the European coal and steel community is a fact, and that much of the great dream of unity must be accounted a reality.

Since coal and steel are the fundamentals of a modern industrial economy, this development is a long step toward the economic unity of Western Europe. But at the same time it would be wise to recognize the limitations of this notable move.

For one thing, it does after all embrace only coal and steel. Only with the experience gained in the operation of this plan will it be possible eventually to press for wider application to other industrial fields.

Secondly, Great Britain, one of the leading coal and steel producers, is not a member of the new community. The British have set up a committee to keep in close contact with the six-nation organization, but their absence from full membership unquestionably restricts the program's potential effectiveness.

And, of course, not even the most extreme optimist shuts his eyes to the fact that this experiment in continental unity is sure to creak and groan for a long time before it runs smoothly.

The officers of the coal and steel community are buckling down to a frightening task. In the months ahead they must slash their way through a jungle of restrictions of many kinds—tariff barriers, quota limits, discriminatory freight rates, price-fixing and production subsidies.

Inevitably there will be many controversies rising in the day-to-day practical working out of the project. Reality is almost always harsher than the dream.

Yet men everywhere who are wedded to freedom must pray that the community's able officials can ride out these beginning storms. It could well be that the whole cause of European unity—so basic to the broader well-being and security of the entire free world—will rest upon the success or failure of this first great unification effort.

OPTIMISTIC BUSINESS

It is not strange that Americans, remembering the prosperous days which immediately preceded the last depression, are wary of our present prosperity. In a sense it is good that some of the fear of a break in our economic fortune remains with us. It may keep us from over-extending and may encourage us to thrift and foresight: But it would be dangerous for us to allow our misgivings at the possibility of another depression to drive us to economic cowardice.

Joseph Meehan, director of the Office of Business Economics, United States Department of Commerce, said recently that informed American business leaders do not envision the possibility of a depression before the end of 1955. A survey taken by his organization among 2,000 concerns, which account for three-fifths of all non-farm investments in this country, showed that capital investments through 1953 will remain high.

American business learned much from the last depression. Since the thirties a great deal of thought and study has gone into plans for ways to meet depressions and ways to avoid them. Safeguards against panic and cushions against sudden declines have been worked out. Economic setbacks are still possible but the attitude toward them has changed. They are no longer considered inevitable.

If you think that steel is the nation's largest business, you may be wrong. Recently the steel industry was estimated at seven billion dollars. As much money is tied up in American art museums, says John Coolidge, director of Harvard University's Fogg Art Museum. The largest American museum, New York's Metropolitan, is worth well over a billion, and at least two or three others are worth many hundreds of millions apiece. Even a medium-sized museum, says Coolidge, must represent an investment between 50 and 100 million dollars of capital.

'These Days'

GREAT CAUSES

Great causes are often corrupted by small men and become a caricature of the ideals and purposes of the founders. Many of the movements for human liberty degenerate into little bureaucracies out of which a petty jobholder makes a comparatively small living.

In the exciting days of the 1930's and 1940's, the Communists made great strides in this country, reaching, in their influences, as high as the White House. They infiltrated the Government, the universities, the theatre and other arts of expression. The ease with which the Communists were able to move was due to four causes:

1. The distress of younger people over the Depression;
2. The stodginess of older people in their support and expression of American ideals;
3. The failure of government to grasp the nature of the Communist conspiracy;
4. The support of Communist movements by the great powers of the Russian government.

Yet, it can be said that these anti-Communist movements naturally have a wide range both in personnel and in concept. There is no federation of anti-Communists. There are no officers to regiment men and women; there is no Executive Committee to purge recalcitrants. Each group and each individual does the work that knowledge and conscience permit.

During the past three years, two interesting tendencies have appeared. One is the anti-anti-Communist tendency. This appears in the writings of many former Communists and self-serving liberals who denounce Stalinism but are opposed to all efforts in the United States to investigate, analyze and extirpate Communism in this country.

Naturally, many of them are fearful that such investigations will ultimately disclose their past activities, although they now are no longer Stalinists. They want bygones to be bygones without paying for their sins.

These people live in terror that some witness before a Congressional committee will disclose their shame or that some newspaperman will bring them before the public eye. They live like cheats, not daring to confess errors as so many really brave men and women have done. They use their influence to ridicule Congressional investigations. Their present target is, of course, Senator Joe McCarthy. Their next target will be Senator William Jenner.

The other tendency is among the anti-Communist groups. They are not without sinful ones. This is a natural result of the current unpopularity of Communism. The trouble arises from the desire of many former Communists and many of those mentioned in investigations to be cleared.

No human being can clear another of error. Only the penitent, by confession of error, can clear himself. Only such public confession can win credence. Many have done precisely that.

Therefore, lawyers, investigators, fixers, etc., who, for a fee or for "expenses," as they sometimes put it, undertake to clear men and women of former and present errors, claim to do more than they can. There is a lawyer in Hollywood who engages in this business as a specialty. Most anti-Communists do not even answer his mail.

Anyone who pays to be cleared is a fool. All he needs to do is to declare himself publicly or to engage publicly in anti-Communist activities of his own choosing. In Hollywood, more than a hundred persons in the motion picture industry have found a public way of proving a real and unmistakable change of heart and it has not cost them a penny. In radio and television, the sponsors, advertising agencies and personnel are so scared that they are either unjust in their attitude that anyone who is "a controversial person" should not be employed with or without investigation, or they submit to what I believe to be blackmail.

It is a safe rule that anyone who takes money to clear a person of charges which imperil his livelihood is not an honest man. I can mention a long list of those who have generously and at their own expense helped ex-Communists along the only road to the respect of their neighbors, confession. Those who take money for this purppose are not straight. I do not include in this denunciation men who are openly employed checking lists of prospective employes against available data. I do include those who say that they can fix them in secret and get cash under the table. Nothing can be done by secrecy or crookedness.

That Body of Yours

HOME LIGHTING

In these days when plenty of light is available for all necessary and unnecessary purposes, it would seem that there is little we need to learn about lighting the home. However, some simple but valuable advice is given by Edward K. Kraybill, of the Duke University electrical engineering department, in the Bureau of Public Information.

"Home planners too often make a backward approach to the problem of good lighting. Architects and interior decorators frequently think of good lighting in terms of decorative effects rather than good illumination."

Thus instead of considering the decorative effect first, they should work out the details of appropriate decoration after they have obtained the utmost in good illumination.

"Cutting out extreme contrasts of light and darkness is the keynote of good illumination. Eyestrain is often brought on by improper balance of lighting."

What are the "tips" or suggestions from this high authority on light of this renowned research university?

1. Avoid excessively dark walls, floors, and furniture which soak up light and cause harsh contrasts in lighting. Use light-colored, semi-transparent lampshades.

2. Plan for even distribution of lighting. Avoid dark corners. A person reading by a floor lamp in a semi-dark room will often turn the light down to its lowest level, not because light is too bright but because it seems to glare in contrast to the rest of the room. Naturally this brings on eye fatigue.

3. Avoid spotlights. Many modern lamps concentrate light in a small area. Unless used for highlighting a piece of furniture, they are the poorest kind you can have. They should never be used to provide reading light over beds, chairs, or desks.

4. Use floor lamps to supplement the general illumination of a room. Fluorescent lamps should be used with daylight or other general illumination.

5. Don't waste light. Most kitchens have lights in the center of the ceiling so best light shines down on the floor where it is not needed. A ceiling light is valuable for general illumination, but other lights should be over "work" places, such as sink, stove and counters.

I am quoting these suggestions because most of us may be following the architect and interior decorator in their distribution of light to obtain decorative effect rather than good illumination.

This is done regularly in Britain, France, Germany and Italy. But what is done by the opposition party in the United States is more important than what the European opposition parties say. For Soviet Russia is in a better position to capitalize on the criticisms made here than on those of Europe.

Without waiting to find out the truth of what did happen, Mr. Stevenson accused Secretary of State Dulles of issuing ultimatums to Europe—a statement officially denied by the secretary himself before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee last week. The former Illinois governor went further with a charge that the United States, in effect has a selfish, material interest in the money it is spending abroad. The Moscow Communist propaganda machine has been trying for months to get evidence of this charge, and will not fail to take cognizance of what it will regard inevitably as Mr. Stevenson's apparent confirmation.

The statement in the Stevenson speech of last week which damaged American prestige in Europe is the following:

"I hope I have misread the signs of the revival of the discredited 'dollar diplomacy.' I hope we are forging no silver chains."

This comment came in connection with American efforts to determine whether American billions should be continued to countries which, if unwilling to defend themselves, might bring about such a state of weakness as to cause American funds to be wasted or lost. This was the same principle applied in the previous administration. For Mr. Stevenson now to level the innuendo of "dollar diplomacy" is to imply that some new, selfish factor has been introduced by the new administration here in order to use American foreign aid to gain improper ends.

The phrase "dollar diplomacy" is explained in "the beards' basic history of the United States" as follows:

"Under Theodore Roosevelt's successor, William Howard Taft, who had beaten William Jennings Bryan in the election of 1908, imperialistic activity by the President received another name. Republicans now simply called it 'dollar diplomacy.' The rose under a new name meant that it was the duty and right of the United States government to seek out and protect opportunities that would allow American businessmen to operate freely in foreign countries and American bankers to make profitable loans abroad."

Surely there is nothing in the Eisenhower-Dulles-Stassen policies of extending aid under the mutual security assistance laws passed by the last Congress which could even remotely justify the charge that the United States is endeavoring to obtain advantages for its businessmen or bankers or that it is seeking some special privileges of a materialistic nature.

This, of course, is what Moscow has been saying ever since President Truman launched the Marshall Plan and the mutual security assistance plan, but it is surprising to have a former presidential nominee now attach the name "dollar diplomacy" to the very policies which are being continued by the new administration here.

Either Mr. Stevenson, in his anxiety to make clever phrases, didn't look up his history as to what "dollar diplomacy" means or he really believes the Eisenhower administration has some ulterior purpose of a material nature in its policies of foreign aid.

While Mr. Stevenson professed the greatest friendliness for the new administration and promised cooperation, his address, when read abroad, will be found to contain many sarcastic accusations concerning the good faith of the American government in its relations with European governments.

The opposition parties inside European countries which have been playing on the nationalistic and patriotic feelings of their own countrymen in criticizing American policies as those of a "bully" will find in former Governor Stevenson's attack on his own government the very ammunition they need to help undermine the Churchill-Eden policies in Britain, and the Mayer-Pleven policies in France and the Adenauer program in Germany. It is a speech that was lost in the giggles of an admiring audience of New Dealers in New York, but it will be an expensive speech for America when Moscow and the anti-American elements in Europe get through exploiting it.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Having laid the foundation of the Drew Pearson expose, I shall now develop the features of a series of weird conspiracies. The scenario includes a fantastic "anti-trust" suit against Senator Pat McCarran, of Nevada, augmented by a publicity and propaganda campaign to sway the court. In this suit, Pearson's lawyer, William A. Roberts, represents an ex-convict from Brooklyn who landed in Nevada as press agent for the Flamingo Hotel and gambling house operated by the notorious Buggsy Siegal underworld mob. Pearson's story of this McCarran lawsuit concealed the fact that the plaintiff was an ex-convict and an agent of the Siegal mob. The forces which have been smearing McCarran are, mainly, Communists and friends of Communists.

Pearson regularly employed two Communists as "leg-men." A third "leg man," Jack Anderson, who figures prominently in the case, latched onto the GI paper "China Lantern" in China just after the war. General Al Wedemeyer, then the China theatre commander, says this paper fomented insubordination to the verge of mutiny in line with the Communist scheme to disrupt the American fighting forces and get them out of Europe and China.

I come now to the case of a Chinese air force general named Pang Tsu Mow, who is charged with absconding from Washington to Mexico with about $7,000,000. The government of the Republic of China lays claim to this money, much of which Mow has sequestered in Switzerland. Pearson put his lawyer, Roberts, in touch with the fugitive general. Roberts is also Pearson's lawyer in another queer suit against Senator Joe McCarthy, the Washington Times-Herald, Fulton Lewis, Westbrook Pegler and others. The purpose seems to me to be to head off the expose of Pearson's lies and nefarious operations.

Last Dec. 2, in Washington, a subcommittee of the Judiciary Committee of the Senate took sworn testimony by John G. Broady, a New York lawyer representing the Republic of China in the effort to recover the money from General Mow.

Senator Arthur V. Watkins of Utah, presided.

Edward R. Duffy, investigator for the committee, used the word "embezzled" in referring to this money.

Broady said he had gone to Mexico in this quest and had met Felix Pichardo Estrada, an assistant attorney general of the Republic of Mexico, and a number of federal police.

"Mow," Broady said, "was then arrested * * * * and at the request of the procurator general's office, Dr. Liang Chien Cha, vice-minister of justice of the Republic of China, and myself went to the house which Mow occupied * * * to act as interpreters and translators in going over the documents found * * * * in Mow's house."

Mow had a white American girl with him as companion.

In response to questions, Mr. Broady said, "documents seized in Mow's residence on the day of his arrest showed that he had deposited $2,000,000 of Chinese government funds under his own name in the Chemical Bank and Trust Co., Rockefeller Center Branch, New York."

Broady said Mow asked him to "get in touch by telephone with his own attorney, William A. Roberts, in Washington, D. C."

Broady said: "I asked Mow whether Roberts had been paid and whether Roberts would be willing to render further services to Mow without an additional fee. * * * * Mow then told me that * * * he had paid Roberts and his firm several hundred thousand dollars. * * * I asked Mow how this money was paid. Mow stated in substance that the money had been paid to Roberts partially in currency, partially by drafts, and that, among other things, he, Mow, had also given Roberts one $100,000 U. S. Treasury bearer bill. I asked Mow what funds he had used to buy this U. S. Treasury bearer bill that he gave to Roberts and to buy other U. S. Treasury bearer bills that he admitted he had bought. Mow answered that he had used funds from his office accounts to buy them. I asked now on whose advice he had done this and he stated in substance that he had purchased these U. S. Treasury bearer bills on the advice and with the approval of William A. Roberts. Mow also told me in substance that Roberts had cashed this $100,000 U. S. Treasury bill through his broker in New York and had used part of the proceeds * * * * to pay the expenses of

Army Urge Lasts 30 Years

Providence, R. I. (AP)—M. Sgt. William G. Reid remembers the day 30 years ago when he suddenly enlisted in the U. S. Army. William, then 18, was delivering groceries in a horse and wagon in his home town when he saw the famous recruiting poster with Uncle Sam pointing at him and saying, "I want you." He pulled up his horse and wagon, went in and enlisted and has been in the Army ever since. "I guess they must have sent someone to pick up the horse and wagon," he smiled. Married and with an 8-year-old son, Williams draws $159 a month in Army pay.

What does an expert think about when he goes into a long huddle? Does he just sit at the table and wonder what he would like to eat for breakfast the next morning, or does he really apply himself to the problem at hand?

I cannot deny that some experts go wool-gathering at the bridge table. In general, however, the expert does keep his mind on his business and does a good deal of his reasoning along the lines of "if he hadda he woulda." Let's see how this works out in the hand shown today.

West opened a low heart, and declarer played low from dummy, not knowing that East had a singleton king. East won with the king of hearts and shifted to the king of diamonds, whereupon South took the ace of diamonds and returned the suit to force out East's queen.

East plugged away at diamonds, returning the nine. South let the nine of diamonds hold, but took the next trick with dummy's jack of diamonds. Declarer's next step was to lead the four of spades from dummy and finesse the six from his own hand, ducking the trick to West.

This gave the enemy their fourth defensive trick, after which South needed the rest of the tricks to make his contract.

West returned another heart, and declarer cashed in order the ace and queen of hearts, the ace of clubs, the jack of hearts, and the king of spades.

The queen of spades dropped on declarer's king, and declarer next led a spade towards the dummy and wondered whether to finesse the ten or to go up with dummy's ace of spades. East had very cleverly played the jack and the king of clubs, saving the ten of clubs.

East was known to have one diamond, and the idea was to make it seem that he had no more clubs in order that South would believe that East still had the jack of spades.

South recognized the possibility that East's unknown card was the jack of spades, and he thought about it. If East's unknown card happened to be a club, all of East's plays were deceptive, but quite logical.

If East's unknown card happens to be the jack of spades, however, this meant that East, holding Q-J-5 of spades, had played the five of spades from his hand when the suit was first led from the dummy.

Since this play was quite illogical, South decided that East could not possibly have held this combination of cards. On the basis of this reasoning he finessed dummy's ten of spades and made his game contract.

Mow's remaining under cover in Mexico."

Mr. Duffy asked what was meant by the term "office accounts," from which these moneys were derived.

Broady said: "Mow referred to accounts in which were deposited the funds belonging to the government of the Republic of China."

Broady said Mow told him that Roberts had advised him to go to Mexico and that Roberts had arranged with one Oliver Kisich, formerly of the U. S. State Department, to get him into Mexico. Broady said Mow told him that Roberts paid Kisich "out of the proceeds of the $100,000 Treasury bearer bill that Roberts had cashed."

Broady said he went over an itemized expense bill with Mow and that Mow told him that "the total paid by Roberts and Mow to Kisich" was "$45,000 or more."

Duffy asked: "Did Mow make any statement as to how he had met Roberts?"

"Yes," Broady said, "Mow told me, in substance, that he had been referred to Roberts and, I believe, introduced to Roberts by Drew Pearson or by Drew Pearson's leg-man, Jack Anderson."

Duffy asked: "Did Mow state whether Drew Pearson had any part in Mow's decision to take his government's funds and keep them?"

Broady replied: "Mow told me, in substance, that Roberts had assured Mow that he, Roberts, also represented Pearson and was a close friend of Drew Pearson's and that if the Republic of China got too tough in their demands that Mow return the money, that he, Roberts, would get Drew Pearson to 'pour it on' the Republic of China and, in that way, discourage the Republic of China from going after Mow."

Cottekill Student Honored by Army

Oscar H. Beach, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar H. Beach of Cottekill, a business administration junior and cadet in ROTC at Syracuse University, has been designated a Distinguished Military student by the United States Army with the approval of Chancellor William P. Tolley. Beach, a graduate of Kingston High School, the class of 1946, served three years in the armed forces and then took a post graduate course at Kingston High before entering Syracuse University.

Beach will graduate and be commissioned in the reserves in June 1954. Distinguished military students are eligible to receive permanent commissions in the service if they desire to make the military their career.

A married student, Beach previously was a corporal in the enlisted service. Last year he attended the ROTC summer camp and studied for a post in the finance corps. The military awards are made in both air force and army ROTC to a limited number of students for outstanding qualities of "military leadership, high moral character, aptitude for military science and academic achievement."

Opening lead—♥ 3

This gave the enemy their fourth defensive trick, after which South needed the rest of the tricks to make his contract.

West returned another heart, and declarer cashed in order the ace and queen of hearts, the ace of clubs, the jack of hearts, and the king of spades.

The queen of spades dropped on declarer's king, and declarer next led a spade towards the dummy and wondered whether to finesse the ten or to go up with dummy's ace of spades. East had very cleverly played the jack and the king of clubs, saving the ten of clubs.

East was known to have one diamond, and the idea was to make it seem that he had no more clubs in order that South would believe that East still had the jack of spades.

South recognized the possibility that East's unknown card was the jack of spades, and he thought about it. If East's unknown card happened to be a club, all of East's plays were deceptive, but quite logical.

If East's unknown card happens to be the jack of spades, however, this meant that East, holding Q-J-5 of spades, had played the five of spades from his hand when the suit was first led from the dummy.

Since this play was quite illogical, South decided that East could not possibly have held this combination of cards. On the basis of this reasoning he finessed dummy's ten of spades and made his game contract.

Mow's remaining under cover in Mexico."

Mr. Duffy asked what was meant by the term "office accounts," from which these moneys were derived.

Broady said: "Mow referred to accounts in which were deposited the funds belonging to the government of the Republic of China."

Broady said Mow told him that Roberts had advised him to go to Mexico and that Roberts had arranged with one Oliver Kisich, formerly of the U. S. State Department, to get him into Mexico. Broady said Mow told him that Roberts paid Kisich "out of the proceeds of the $100,000 Treasury bearer bill that Roberts had cashed."

Broady said he went over an itemized expense bill with Mow and that Mow told him that "the total paid by Roberts and Mow to Kisich" was "$45,000 or more."

Duffy asked: "Did Mow make any statement as to how he had met Roberts?"

"Yes," Broady said, "Mow told me, in substance, that he had been referred to Roberts and, I believe, introduced to Roberts by Drew Pearson or by Drew Pearson's leg-man, Jack Anderson."

Duffy asked: "Did Mow state whether Drew Pearson had any part in Mow's decision to take his government's funds and keep them?"

Broady replied: "Mow told me, in substance, that Roberts had assured Mow that he, Roberts, also represented Pearson and was a close friend of Drew Pearson's and that if the Republic of China got too tough in their demands that Mow return the money, that he, Roberts, would get Drew Pearson to 'pour it on' the Republic of China and, in that way, discourage the Republic of China from going after Mow."

Cottekill Student Honored by Army

Oscar H. Beach, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar H. Beach of Cottekill, a business administration junior and cadet in ROTC at Syracuse University, has been designated a Distinguished Military student by the United States Army with the approval of Chancellor William P. Tolley. Beach, a graduate of Kingston High School, the class of 1946, served three years in the armed forces and then took a post graduate course at Kingston High before entering Syracuse University.

Beach will graduate and be commissioned in the reserves in June 1954. Distinguished military students are eligible to receive permanent commissions in the service if they desire to make the military their career.

A married student, Beach previously was a corporal in the enlisted service. Last year he attended the ROTC summer camp and studied for a post in the finance corps. The military awards are made in both air force and army ROTC to a limited number of students for outstanding qualities of "military leadership, high moral character, aptitude for military science and academic achievement."

Second Tanker Has Jet Fuel for Reds

Washington, Feb. 19 (AP)—A second Finnish tanker, loaded with jet fuel for Communist warplanes, has been spotted in the Mediterranean by western security agents.

But American officials believe the ship's operators may have changed their minds about hauling its highly strategic cargo to Communist China.

The ship, named "Neste," is reported carrying 5,000 tons of aviation jet fuel picked up at the Romanian oil port of Constanta on the Black Sea.

The vessel is reportedly chartered by the same company which tried to move another tanker, the "Wiima," from Romania with 7,000 tons of jet fuel bound for Communist China. The Wiima, defying a United Nations ban on such shipments, is now anchored about 20 miles off Singapore carefully watched by western security agents.

To Divert Vessel

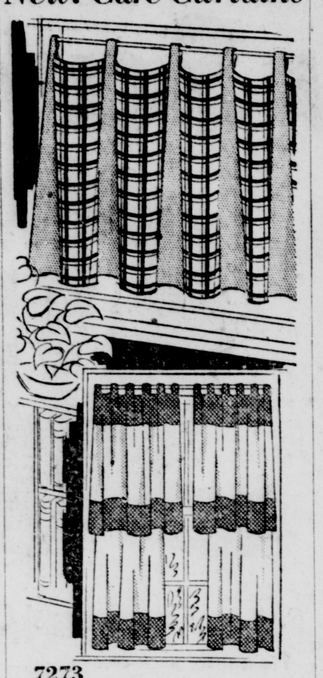

Officials who told a reporter of the second tanker said today there is a report the Communists have decided to divert the "Neste" to Gdynia, a Polish Black Sea port, because of fear that allied governments may find some way to stop it and confiscate the cargo.

The Neste passed through the Dardanelles straits Feb. 5 and loded up with jet fuel, they said. Reliable information, they said, showed it would try to haul its cargo to China, following the same route taken by the Wiima—through the Suez Canal, into the Indian Ocean.

Now, however, the orders are reported to be to divert it to Poland instead. American officials are watching it closely because they are not sure of the accuracy of this information.

Seven Students Are Taken Into Society

In an impressive induction ceremony at the New Paltz Central High School seven students were accepted this week into the National Honor Society. Members of the Honor Society, Norman Richards, John Jeanneney, Barbara Misner and Margaret Lueken briefly defined Scholarship, Leadership, Character and Service on which selection of new members is based. After repeating the pledge, new members were presented with the gold National Honor Society pin by Principal Frank Bugar. Following the program, the new members with their parents, faculty and members of the board of education were guests at a tea given by the Home Economics Department under the supervision of Miss C. Joan Barhydt.

The new members are seniors: Karin Butennandt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Butennandt of Plutarch; Lois Quick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Quick of New Paltz.

Juniors: Lorna Lohrman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Lohrman, New Paltz; Nancy Moehrke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moehrke, New Paltz; Alice Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Murphy, Gardiner; Janet Quick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Quick, New Paltz; George Rost, son of Dr. and Mrs. Walter Rost, New Paltz.

The program was planned and given under the direction of Miss Joan M. Alsous, guidance counselor, and Mrs. Webster MacDonald, chairman of the assembly programs at New Paltz High School.

Childish Give-and-Take Could Prove Educational

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Polly's teacher gave her a box containing paste and many sheets of brown, green and cherry-red paper the other day.

All afternoon she has been working on a Washington's Birthday decoration for the 4th grade blackboard. Now her carefully traced cut-outs stretch across the table in a border of most satisfying beauty. Polly's eyes rest upon it lovingly as she pastes another bunch of cherries beside a brown paper hatchet.

Suddenly, out of the pure joy that comes to us all when we are engaged in a task perfectly suited to our interest and ability, she begins to hum softly to herself.

Her little broher hears her — and can't stand it. In comparison with the beautiful border of cherries and hatchets, his ready-made fleet of toy automobiles seems unbearably tiresome. He leaves them, walks over to the table and knocks Polly's paste-pot to the floor. Then snatching at the work of four hours, he rips the border in half.

Polly slaps him as hard as she can.

You know what his mother does as well as I do. Up from the cellar she comes flying to embrace her roaring son and cry, "Shame on you, you bad sister! A great big girl like you hitting your little brother! Don't you ever touch Jimmy again! If you were the right kind of big sister, you'd have asked him to help you make your border!"

Polly is nine years old. Experience has not equipped her to recognize jealousy in Jimmy. She has had no training in re-directing a little boy's destructive impulses. She is not Jimmy's mother nor his nursery school teacher.

She is not responsible for keeping him happy and occupied. She is a child who has been attacked by another one. Her aggressor happens to be related to her, and he happens to have been born four years after she was, but those are foolish reasons to deny her the right to defend herself.

It is as proper for Polly to slap Jimmy under the circumstances as it is for him to learn that he'll get hurt if he goes about smashing up other people's property.

I hope this idea will not be construed as an endorsement of manslaughter in the dining room. Obviously, we can't let brothers and sisters hurt each other. But we certainly can judge between a hurt and an educational experience. If we do, we'll quit blundering into children's take-and-give. Otherwise, we cancel out the profit of the profitable lessons they can teach each other.

For the fact is, children operate on a sense of rough primitive justice that is often better adapted to their realistic education than the sentimental kind we dispense.

It is not Jimmy who expects Polly to be his mother. We're the ones who ask her to be—and are so mad that she won't do our job for us that we attack Polly the victim for the effect produced by Jimmy the aggressor.

22 Airmen Escape

Roswell, N. M., Feb. 19 (AP)—Twenty-two airmen escaped unhurt when a B-36 caught fire near the end of its landing roll shortly before midnight and burned to the ground. A spokesman at Walker Air Force Base said the commander of the giant six-engined bomber told him two engines burst into flame as the craft rolled to a stop. The crew jumped to the ground as the flames spread to the rest of the plane.

Plane Lands Safely

Shannon Airport, Ireland, Feb. 19 (AP)—A Trans World airliner coming from New York with 28 passengers landed here safely today with one of its four motors dead. The engine sputtered and stopped about 100 miles from shore. The pilot reported the circumstances by radio and another TWA plane, also crossing from America, escorted the crippled plane to the airport. Fire trucks were on the field but were not needed. A TWA official said there was no excitement among the passengers.

Agrees With President

Washington, Feb. 19 (AP)—Sen. George (D-Ga.) said today he is "in general agreement with the Eisenhower fiscal program" of bringing the federal budget into balance, or near it, before cutting taxes. George was a White House caller yesterday. He said he had not talked taxes with President Eisenhower but merely made a "courtesy call." George, former chairman and now senior Democrat on the tax-writing Senate Finance Committee, said in an interview he may go along with the idea of a substitute for the excess profits taxes on corporations.

Friday night at 8 o'clock World Day of Prayer will be observed at the Episcopal Church. February 25, 7:30 p. m. the Rev. Gerrit Timmer of the Reformed Church will speak on Peter at the Methodist Church.

Flu More Serious

Washington, Feb. 19 (AP)—The Public Health Service said today that new data on deaths in a number of cities suggest that "the current outbreak of influenza is not quite as mild as first reports seem to indicate." However, a public health official said the epidemic now is apparently on the wane, on the basis of reports from the 48 states. The weekly communicable disease summary said deaths from influenza and pneumonia in 58 reporting cities for the week ending Feb. 7 totaled 610.

Says New York Is Terror

Washington, Feb. 19 (AP)—Rep. Powell (D-N.Y.) told House investigators that "New York city is a city of terror for minorities" and its police commissioner should be fired. "Every day he is in office is a disgrace to my town and to my country," Powell asserted. Powell, a Negro, charged that Commissioner George P. Monaghan made some kind of an agreement with Justice Department officials last July to make the FBI keep hands off civil rights cases in New York. He said it prevented FBI agents from questioning New York policemen in cases alleging police brutality.

Alignment Work May Be Delayed

Albany, Feb. 19 (AP)—The intricate job of reapportioning Senate and Assembly districts may be delayed until a special legislative session next summer or fall—or be handled at the 1954 meeting of the lawmakers.

A final decision may be ironed out at Gov. Dewey's weekly conference Sunday night with GOP legislative leaders, his top aides and William L. Pfeiffer, Republican state chairman.

The administration had planned to process reapportionment bills during the current session, but an informed source said yesterday that a joint legislative committee drafting the legislation had reached a "bottleneck."

He said the measures might be drawn before the scheduled mid-March adjournment of the Senate and Assembly, but he called this unlikely.

The principal roadblock is agreement on boundary lines of proposed new districts in Nassau, Queens and Onondaga counties.

Present reapportionment plans call for Queens and Nassau, both growing counties, to be given new seats in each House and for Onondaga county to get an extra senator.

Would Boost Number

This would be accomplished in the Senate by boosting the number of seats from 56 to 58 and cutting away one of the five seats now held by the Bronx.

With a new seat, Queens would have five, Nassau three, and Onondaga, two.

In the Assembly, two additional seats probably would go to Nassau and one extra would be given to Queens.

To make the three new seats available, Albany county would be cut from three to two, Brooklyn from 24 to 23 and the Bronx from 13 to 12.

The bills actually would define the boundaries of all Senate districts. But the measures would not specify the Assembly-district lines.

The Legislature would allot each county its total number of Assemblymen, and each county's board of supervisors would draw its own new lines. In New York city, the district breakdown would be done by the city council.

Lesson on Pictures

The ladies of the Kerhonkson Home Bureau, interested in the lesson on the matting and framing of pictures, met at the home of Mrs. Neil Olsen Thursday afternoon, to discuss with the leader, Mrs. Clifford Hartelius, the various aspects of the subject.

A kit, made and prepared by the leaders of the County Home Bureau, together with pictures that had been purchased by the County Unit were used in the lesson. Pictures by such well known artists as Vangogh, Piccaro, Matisse, Laurencine, Davis, Renoir, Cezanne and others were used with the various colored mats to bring out the beauty of the picture and the color highlights. These fundamental techniques were ably brought out by Mrs. Hartelius in her lesson to the group. Ladies present included Mrs. Oscar Groves, Jr., Mrs. Rae Schoonmaker, Mrs. Francis L. McCauley, and Mrs. David Karp.

Hurley Unit

The Hurley Unit of the Home Bureau met on Thursday morning, Feb. 12, for a demonstration of oven-cooked meals given by Mrs. George Brown. A covered dish luncheon was served at noon to 16 members. The regular business meeting took place at 1:30 p. m. with the chairman, Mrs. Alton Dietz, presiding. Mrs. Helen Stantial was present to help with the planning of next year's program.

On Tuesday, Feb. 24, at 10:30 a. m., the first lesson on sewing screens will be held.

Bloomingdale Unit

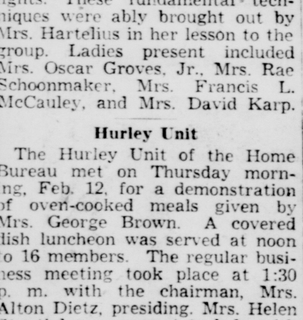

The Bloomingdale Unit will meet on Tuesday, Feb. 24, at 10 a. m. in the Bloomingdale Reformed Church. Lessons on creative stitchery, smocking, and the tooth-brush rug will be given.

Olive Unit

Olive Unit of the Home Bureau will meet on Tuesday, Feb. 24, in the old West Shokan school. The project will be furniture refinishing. Each member is requested to bring a piece of furniture to work on, and to wear work clothes and gloves.

Alignment Work May Be Delayed

Albany, Feb. 19 (AP)—The intricate job of reapportioning Senate and Assembly districts may be delayed until a special legislative session next summer or fall—or be handled at the 1954 meeting of the lawmakers.

A final decision may be ironed out at Gov. Dewey's weekly conference Sunday night with GOP legislative leaders, his top aides and William L. Pfeiffer, Republican state chairman.

The administration had planned to process reapportionment bills during the current session, but an informed source said yesterday that a joint legislative committee drafting the legislation had reached a "bottleneck."

He said the measures might be drawn before the scheduled mid-March adjournment of the Senate and Assembly, but he called this unlikely.

The principal roadblock is agreement on boundary lines of proposed new districts in Nassau, Queens and Onondaga counties.

Present reapportionment plans call for Queens and Nassau, both growing counties, to be given new seats in each House and for Onondaga county to get an extra senator.

Would Boost Number

This would be accomplished in the Senate by boosting the number of seats from 56 to 58 and cutting away one of the five seats now held by the Bronx.

With a new seat, Queens would have five, Nassau three, and Onondaga, two.

In the Assembly, two additional seats probably would go to Nassau and one extra would be given to Queens.

To make the three new seats available, Albany county would be cut from three to two, Brooklyn from 24 to 23 and the Bronx from 13 to 12.

The bills actually would define the boundaries of all Senate districts. But the measures would not specify the Assembly-district lines.

The Legislature would allot each county its total number of Assemblymen, and each county's board of supervisors would draw its own new lines. In New York city, the district breakdown would be done by the city council.

Boy Scout News

Catholics Honor Saugerties Scouter

Edward M. Flanagan, one of Rip Van Winkle Council's most ardent workers, this week was awarded the highest honor that can be given a scouter by the Roman Catholic Church. He received the award from Cardinal Spellman Sunday in impressive ceremonies attended by more than 1,400 Scouts and leaders in St. Patrick's Cathedral, New York.

Flanagan, who has been active in Boy Scout work since 1942 is the institutional representative of St. Mary's Church in Saugerties, which sponsors Troop 36 and Pack 36. He is also a member of the executive board of the council and a member of the council camp committee and a member-at-large of the Saugerties district committee.

Two years ago he received the Silver Beaver award, the highest a council may bestow on a scouter, for his outstanding work for the boyhood of the council area.

Only Ones in Ulster

Flanagan and George Thornton also of Saugerties, are the only scouters in Ulster county to be so honored with receiving the Bronze Pelican. Thornton received his in 1951.

Besides making these awards to the scouters, Cardinal Spellman also blessed the medals and presented 290 Ad Altare Dei Crosses to as many Boy Scouts of the arch-diocese for their church work in scouting. More than 3,000 Boy Scouts and explorers marched up Fifth avenue before the ceremonies and they massed their colors in an impressive display inside the cathedral. The Bronze Pelican medals symbolize Christian devotion to youth and the Ad Altare Dei Cross is given to scouts for integrating their religion into scouting activities.

Use Egg Shell

If a speck of egg yolk accidentally gets into the egg white, when you are separating an egg, scoop it out with a piece of egg shell.

New Hurley

New Hurley, Feb. 18—Mrs. Crosby J. Wilkin returned from the Goshen Hospital Friday after having undergone an operation.

Hallock Sutton and grandson Matthew Gummeson called at the home of his sister and brother-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Edward Powell last Wednesday.

Word has been received in this place of the death of Mrs. Roscoe Striving in California. Funeral services were held in Phoenix, Arizona. Mrs. Strivings is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schoonmaker of this place and a sister of Gerow Schoonmaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilmot Denniston of Walden called at the home of his brother and sister-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Roy Denniston Friday evening.

Wanda Marie Pickins daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Pickins, Gardiner, celebrated her 11th birthday with a party Feb. 10. Decorations were in keeping with Valentine's Day. Games were played and refreshments served. Game winners were Virginia Barkley, Patty Smeades, Norma Marks and Judy Roffa.

Funeral services for Mrs. Jane R. Van Wyck were held at the Ronk Funeral Home in Wallkill on Tuesday afternoon with burial in New Hurley Cemetery.

Boy Scouts and their scoutmaster William Kobelt attended services in the New Hurley Church last Sunday morning.

The young people met at the parsonage Sunday evening with Martha Bell Schoonmaker in charge of the program. On Feb. 8, 19 young people from here attended a meeting at the Wallkill Church.

Senior choir rehearsal will be held in the church Thursday at 8:00 p. m.

World Day of Prayer will be observed in the Wallkill Reformed Church on Friday at 8 p. m. The Wallkill choir will sing special music and the Rev. Frederick Cooper will bring the message. The New Hurley Congregation is cordially invited to this first service of the Lenten season.

Monday evening, Feb. 23 the men of the church will serve their annual Washington birthday dinner at 6 p. m. Tickets will be sold at the door. Charles Garrison is chairman with Laurence Dolan as co-chairman. All are most cordially invited to attend.

Sunday at 11 o'clock there will be regular preaching service in the New Hurley Reformed Church with Sunday school at 10 a. m. Foreign Mission's Sunday will be observed in Sunday school with the offering for African Missions.

The coin strips are to be returne
A Wurlitzer electric organ fr

Traffic Campaign Planned to Lower Number of Deaths

New York, Feb. 19 (AP)—A rural traffic "slow-down" campaign, intended to reduce deaths and injuries, is planned by highway and safety officials of 11 northeastern states.

The plan provides for the safety resources of the 11 states to be combined in a drive for a slow-down which would reach its climax in June when the summer driving increase starts.

A resolution calling for the campaign was adopted yesterday by the Safety Coordinators of the Northeastern States.

The group declared: "There is a dangerous upward trend in the speeds of all types of vehicles on the open highway."

The states represented in the organization are New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Vermont, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Delaware and Maryland.

Cooperation in the slow-down campaign was sought from police, the judiciary, motor vehicle administrators, education and information media, and the public.

Deaths Total 6,000

The meeting was told that traffic fatalities in the 11 northeastern states totaled 6,000 in 1952. Throughout the nation last year the death toll was 38,000 and the injured 1,350,000.

The group's resolution said:

"Far more deaths and injuries in the rural areas of these (11) states can be expected to result if drivers continue to travel at high speeds at which they cannot hope to control their vehicles."

William M. Green, head of the Connecticut Safety Commission and Motor Vehicle Bureau, told the officials that too many drivers are traveling 70 miles an hour or more in 50-mile-per-hour zones of the Merritt Parkway in his state. Green said "there are too many drivers with 30-mile-an-hour minds who are racing along at 60 miles an hour or more."

The group reelected James Barrett, chief of the New York State Safety Division's Police Bureau, as chairman. Paul E. Burke, of Baltimore, chairman of the Maryland Safety Commission, was reelected secretary.

'Voice' Head Quits

The resignation of Dr. Wilson Compton as head of the State Department's Information administration in charge of the "Voice of America" has been accepted, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said in Washington Feb. 18. Compton is shown Feb. 17 as he testified before a Senate Investigations subcommittee in Washington.

Tax Commission Sends Out Forms

Albany, Feb. 19 (AP)—The State Tax Commission started distributing more than 124 tons of income tax blanks among more than 4 million individuals today.

State income tax returns for 1952 are due next April 15. Single persons who had a net income of $1,000 or more and married couples who had a joint net income of $2,500 or more must file returns.

Long forms (201) are being sent to 2,650,482 persons, and 1,370,520 will get the short form (200). Failure to receive a blank in the mail does not relieve a person of responsibility for filing a return.

Strike Is Averted

Garden City, Feb. 19 (AP)—A threatened strike by 26,000 employes of the Republic Aviation Corporation was averted early today when the disputants came to terms after a 20-hour marathan mediation session. Federal mediators said the strike, which had been scheduled to begin at two plants of the company last midnight, was called off. Terms of the agreement, between Local 1987 of the AFL International Association of Machinists, and the company, which makes the "Thunderjet" fighter-bomber, were not disclosed.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Sometimes this column brings interesting out of, town visitors such as Mrs. Alice Cantine Huntington, who has returned to this county after being absent some 40 years. Mrs. Robert Service is her cousin. The Service family, Mrs. Huntington tells me, have taken one of those old Stone Ridge houses, built back in 1830 which have remained in excellent condition. Mrs. Huntington told me that James Cantine built it. He was known to be the pioneer missionary to Arabia. Some time ago I mentioned some papers I received from the Irving Scott family. Mrs. Huntington is tracing the Cantine family tree, and found "Eliza Scott, born Feb. 15, 1803, married July 4, 1822 a Jacob Cantine." Mrs. Huntington came to me for perhaps further information. I gave her what leads I could think of. But, if someone within reading distance of this column has further knowledge of Eliza Scott Cantine they could write Mrs. Herbert (Alice Cantine) Huntington, at Stone Ridge.

Among the Scott family items there are interesting items such as a hand written note in brown ink, dated "May 5, 1862, Rondout," which reads: "I hereby certify that William B. Scott has served the term prescribed by law, five years, as a member of Protector Engine Co. No. 2 and is clear of all arrcurages to date." It is signed, James G. Tubby, Secretary, of Protector Engine Co. No. 2. Perhaps some of the old time firemen know something about the above.

There is an item from a local paper dated around 1870. It is a column written by John Romeyn Brodhead called "Notes and documents, relating to the early history of Kingston, Hurley and Marbletown, from the Historical Society Collections. I notice Brodhead's family name a number of times in the item so perhaps he was related to Captain Daniel Brodhead, Chief Officer of the Militia in the Esopes, who died "soon after 1667." Col. Francis Lovelace (who succeeded Nicolls as Governor, in August, 1668) directed that "a very good provision at the furtherest dorp" be made for Mrs. Ann Brodhead, "in regard of her great charge, and of her being a commissioned officer's widow, a tract of land at Marbletown was allowed to her." Perhaps some of the Brodhead family who descended from the captain know more about the above.

It is interesting to read some of the "instructions to Captain Daniel Brodhead, for the management of the Garrison in the Esopes." For instance No. 2—"You are to keep constant guards, yet with respect to the number and health of the soldiers." 3rd—"You are weekly to deliver the soldiers their full weight and allowance of provisions of beef, or venison, proportionable, when it is to be had, and keep an exact account thereof, also what venison you shall buy with powder and lead, in which you must be very sparing and give but a small quantity for a deer, with regard to your stores, that you may not want ammunition upon occasion." 4th—"You must avoid harshness of words and heat of passion in all occasions, seeking rather to reconcile difference than to be the head of a party." Many other good old fashioned ideas which could be used successfully today.

Esopus

Esopus, Feb. 18—Mr. and Mrs. H. Hansen of St. Albans spent the weekend with Mrs. Hansen's brother A. C. Nelsen.

Mrs. Ray Kautz and Mrs. John Hoskin accompanied Mr. Hoskin's mother to Idlewilde where she left by plane to return to Canada after visiting her son and daughter-in-law Mr. and Mrs. John Hoskin in West Esopus.

Charles Palen has resumed work at Hercules Powder Company, Port Ewen, after having been ill for a week.

Mrs. Alice Jones, postmaster, is spending the week visiting relatives in Westwood, N. J.

EAT WELL for Less

Shrimp Souffle Salad Is Treat

SOUFFLE SALAD made with shrimp and avocados is ideal for a Washington's birthday luncheon or the meatless days during Lent.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Looking for something new in salads? Here it is—a combination of mayonnaise and gelatin. The result is a souffle salad of countless variations, all of smooth, creamy, souffle-like consistency.

For your Washington's birthday luncheon party, or for any other meatless ocassion during Lent, the shrimp and avocado souffle salad makes a delectable entree. It combines fresh or canned shrimp, avocados, real mayonnaise and seasonings molded in lime gelatin.

Shrimp and Avocado Souffle Salad (4 to 6 servings)

One package lime-flavored gelatin, 1 cup hot water, ½ cup cold water, 1½ tablespoons vinegar, ½ cup mayonnaise, ¼ teaspoon salt, dash of pepper, ¾ cup diced cooked shrimp, 1 cup diced avocado, 1/3 cup diced celery, 1 tablespoon finely chopped onion.

Note—Use 1 can (7 ounces) shrimp or cook and clean about ½ pound fresh shrimp.

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add cold water, vinegar, mayonnaise, salt and pepper. Blend well with rotary beater. Pour into refrigerator freezing tray.

Quick-chill in freezing unit (without changing control) 15 to 20 minutes, or until firm about 1 inch from edge but soft in center.

Turn chilled gelatin mixture into bowl and whip with rotary beater until fluffy. Fold in shrimp, avocado, celery and onion. Pour into 1-quart loaf pan. Chill until firm in refrigerator (not freezing unit) 30 to 60 minutes. Serve on salad greens and garnish with whole shrimp.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Tomato juice, ready-to-eat cereal, hot-cross buns, butter or margarine, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Black bean soup with lemon slice, shrimp and avocado souffle salad, enriched hard rolls, butter or margarine, Elberta peaches, sugar wafers, tea, milk.

DINNER: Frozen swordfish steaks, lemon sauce, French-fried potatoes, stewed tomatoes, green peppers and onions, enriched bread, butter or margarine, raw cabbage and apple salad, fudge cake, coffee, milk.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Sometimes this column brings interesting out of town visitors such as Mrs. Alice Cantine Huntington, who has returned to this county after being absent some 40 years. Mrs. Robert Service is her cousin. The Service family, Mrs. Huntington tells me, have taken one of those old Stone Ridge houses, built back in 1830 which have remained in excellent condition. Mrs. Huntington told me that James Cantine built it. He was known to be the pioneer missionary to Arabia. Some time ago I mentioned some papers I received from the Irving Scott family. Mrs. Huntington is tracing the Cantine family tree, and found "Eliza Scott, born Feb. 15, 1803, married July 4, 1822 a Jacob Cantine." Mrs. Huntington came to me for perhaps further information. I gave her what leads I could think of. But, if someone within reading distance of this column has further knowledge of Eliza Scott Cantine they could write Mrs. Herbert (Alice Cantine) Huntington, at Stone Ridge.

Among the Scott family items there are interesting items such as a hand written note in brown ink, dated "May 5, 1862, Rondout," which reads: "I hereby certify that William B. Scott has served the term prescribed by law, five years, as a member of Protector Engine Co. No. 2 and is clear of all arrcurages to date." It is signed, James G. Tubby, Secretary, of Protector Engine Co. No. 2. Perhaps some of the old time firemen know something about the above.

There is an item from a local paper dated around 1870. It is a column written by John Romeyn Brodhead called "Notes and documents, relating to the early history of Kingston, Hurley and Marbletown, from the Historical Society Collections. I notice Brodhead's family name a number of times in the item so perhaps he was related to Captain Daniel Brodhead, Chief Officer of the Militia in the Esopes, who died "soon after 1667." Col. Francis Lovelace (who succeeded Nicolls as Governor, in August, 1668) directed that "a very good provision at the furtherest dorp" be made for Mrs. Ann Brodhead, "in regard of her great charge, and of her being a commissioned officer's widow, a tract of land at Marbletown was allowed to her." Perhaps some of the Brodhead family who descended from the captain know more about the above.

It is interesting to read some of the "instructions to Captain Daniel Brodhead, for the management of the Garrison in the Esopes." For instance No. 2—"You are to keep constant guards, yet with respect to the number and health of the soldiers." 3rd—"You are weekly to deliver the soldiers their full weight and allowance of provisions of beef, or venison, proportionable, when it is to be had, and keep an exact account thereof, also what venison you shall buy with powder and lead, in which you must be very sparing and give but a small quantity for a deer, with regard to your stores, that you may not want ammunition upon occasion." 4th—"You must avoid harshness of words and heat of passion in all occasions, seeking rather to reconcile difference than to be the head of a party." Many other good old fashioned ideas which could be used successfully today.

EAT WELL for Less

Shrimp Souffle Salad Is Treat

SOUFFLE SALAD made with shrimp and avocados is ideal for a Washington's birthday luncheon or the meatless days during Lent.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Looking for something new in salads? Here it is—a combination of mayonnaise and gelatin. The result is a souffle salad of countless variations, all of smooth, creamy, souffle-like consistency.

For your Washington's birthday luncheon party, or for any other meatless ocassion during Lent, the shrimp and avocado souffle salad makes a delectable entree. It combines fresh or canned shrimp, avocados, real mayonnaise and seasonings molded in lime gelatin.

Shrimp and Avocado Souffle Salad (4 to 6 servings)

One package lime-flavored gelatin, 1 cup hot water, ½ cup cold water, 1½ tablespoons vinegar, ½ cup mayonnaise, ¼ teaspoon salt, dash of pepper, ¾ cup diced cooked shrimp, 1 cup diced avocado, 1/3 cup diced celery, 1 tablespoon finely chopped onion.

Note—Use 1 can (7 ounces) shrimp or cook and clean about ½ pound fresh shrimp.

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add cold water, vinegar, mayonnaise, salt and pepper. Blend well with rotary beater. Pour into refrigerator freezing tray.

Quick-chill in freezing unit (without changing control) 15 to 20 minutes, or until firm about 1 inch from edge but soft in center.

Turn chilled gelatin mixture into bowl and whip with rotary beater until fluffy. Fold in shrimp, avocado, celery and onion. Pour into 1-quart loaf pan. Chill until firm in refrigerator (not freezing unit) 30 to 60 minutes. Serve on salad greens and garnish with whole shrimp.

TOMORROW'S MENU

John Lauber, 47, Taken to Hospital

John Lauber, 47, of Ulster Heights was reported in "critical" condition at Kingston Hospital this morning with a gunshot wound in his head.

Troopers said that Miss Dorothy Lauber, his sister, found Lauber lying beside the milk shed on his farm, clutching a .22 calibre single shot rifle, about 8:45 p. m. Wednesday.

She summoned Dr. Irving Feinberg of Ellenville, who had Lauber taken to Veterans Memorial Hospital for emergency treatment. The critically injured man was later transferred to Kingston Hospital for surgery under Dr. Samuel Maroon.

State police of Ellenville under Sgt. William Martin are continuing an investigation. The wound was apparently self-inflicted, Sgt. Martin reported, but whether accidental or attempted suicide has not been established. No note was found and investigation disclosed Lauber, who is single and a self employed farmer, was apparently in good health, financially solvent and well liked by his neighbors, troopers said. He kept the rifle and a shotgun in the milk shed for the purpose of shooting rats, investigation has disclosed.

Student Is Charged

Doylestown, Pa., Feb. 19 (AP)—Edgar A. Ostrander, 20, of Malverne, N. Y., was being held in Bucks county prison on charges of drunk driving, hit-run and car theft. Ostrander, a sophomore at Lehigh University in Bethlehem, was arrested early yesterday by state police two miles north of Quakertown. Arresting officers said they chased the taxicab Ostrander was driving for some nine miles before forcing it to a stop, adding that at one occasion the cars exceeded 80 miles an hour.

West Virginia is dotted with 381 mountains which are more than 2000 feet high.

U. S. Seeks to Avoid agreements made with the Soviets at Yalta and Potsdam they had allowed Russia to extend its domination over new areas in the Far East and eastern Europe.

Based on Red Violations

The line which Dulles took yesterday, however, was that "the enslavement of these captive peoples is due to abuse and violation of the understandings." Any repudiation, therefore, apparently would be blamed on Russian violations and not upon the claim that the understandings were themselves bad in the first place. Hence the administration would be able to appeal for Democratic as well as Republican support.

On other subjects, Dulles said:

1. A principal U. S. purpose in the Far East is to end fighting in Indochina and Korea on acceptable terms, and one way to go about this is to replace western forces such as those of France and the U. S. with native troops so that Russia would no longer have the advantage of tying up western forces in combat with Soviet satellites.

Applies to Indochina

2. This policy of relying more and more on native forces would apply to consideration of increased aid to Indochina. Also, the U. S. will be glad to make available to France the experience of American officers in training South Korean troops.

3. In the Middle East the U. S. is considering giving aid to Egypt. (Other officials said an 11 million dollar aid program is near approval). The State Department does not intend to follow a policy of cold-shouldering Israel.

4. Some experts believe proposed French additions to a pending treaty to create the European defense community, containing German units, might substantially modify the treaty. But Dulles said he understood when he was in Paris recently that this was not the French intention and he hopes that the fears may soon be allayed.

No Decision Made

New York, Feb. 19 (AP)—Minot (Mickey) Jelke's lawyer said today he has not yet decided whether to put Jelke on the witness stand to defend himself against vice charges. That will be decided, defense Counsel Martin Benjamin told newsmen, after the prosecution has finished presenting its case. Meanwhile red-haired Erica Steel, a 28-year-old alleged madam, was due on the witness stand to tell what she knows about cafe society vice.

Ulster Raising Fund

Supervisor Percy Bush of the town of Ulster announced today that a fund is being raised in the town for Holland flood victims. Already a considerable amount has been received, including one contribution of $100. Anyone in the town who desires to make a contribution to the fund may mail a contribution to Supervisor Percy Bush, 85 Yarmouth street, or call his home 692 and arrangements will be made to pick up the contributions.

Boom Business Forecast

London, Feb. 19 (AP)—Boom business in American tourists for the coronation was forecast by 14 top United States travel agents who flew into London airport today. The party arrived here for a two-day stop before flying to New Delhi to examine tourist possibilities in India. "Build seven more 1,000 bedroomed hotels in London and we could still fill them all through the summer," said Paul G. Ford, of Los Angeles.

Lenten Services

Soul Food for Lenten Feasts is the topic for discussion at the mid-week service tonight at 7:30 in the Old Dutch Church, corner of Wall and Main streets. This is the first of a series of special Lenten services conducted by the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, designed to meet the daily problems and deepen the spiritual life of people. The meetings are undenominational and applicable to all seekers after the Christian Truth. Everyone is cordially welcome.

Cashin Has Flu, Court Adjourned

County Judge John M. Cashin and Mrs. Cashin are recovering from an attack of the "flu" at the Benedictine Hospital, it was learned today.

The condition of Judge Cashin was reported "fair" today, and that of his wife was "good." Mrs. Cashin entered the hospital Tuesday and Judge Cashin went there yesterday.

Deputy County Clerk Ward B. Tongue today adjourned the February trial term of county court until Feb. 24, at 10 a. m., and jurors were excused until then.

'Uncle Tom' Is Lauded

Paris, Feb. 19 (AP)—French Education Minister Andre Marie last night lauded the American anti-slavery novel "Uncle Tom's Cabin" as the second most widely known book in the world. He put the Bible first. Marie spoke before a group of French statesmen and intellectuals gathered at the University of Paris to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the publication of Harriet Beecher Stowe's famous work. He characterized Mrs. Stowe as "this woman of action, this militant" and declared that "only this book has survived from all the literature favoring emancipation of blacks." "After the Bible this work is the most widespread in the world," he added.

John Lauber, 47, Taken to Hospital

John Lauber, 47, of Ulster Heights was reported in "critical" condition at Kingston Hospital this morning with a gunshot wound in his head.

Troopers said that Miss Dorothy Lauber, his sister, found Lauber lying beside the milk shed on his farm, clutching a .22 calibre single shot rifle, about 8:45 p. m. Wednesday.

She summoned Dr. Irving Feinberg of Ellenville, who had Lauber taken to Veterans Memorial Hospital for emergency treatment. The critically injured man was later transferred to Kingston Hospital for surgery under Dr. Samuel Maroon.

State police of Ellenville under Sgt. William Martin are continuing an investigation. The wound was apparently self-inflicted, Sgt. Martin reported, but whether accidental or attempted suicide has not been established. No note was found and investigation disclosed Lauber, who is single and a self employed farmer, was apparently in good health, financially solvent and well liked by his neighbors, troopers said. He kept the rifle and a shotgun in the milk shed for the purpose of shooting rats, investigation has disclosed.

Student Is Charged

Doylestown, Pa., Feb. 19 (AP)—Edgar A. Ostrander, 20, of Malverne, N. Y., was being held in Bucks county prison on charges of drunk driving, hit-run and car theft. Ostrander, a sophomore at Lehigh University in Bethlehem, was arrested early yesterday by state police two miles north of Quakertown. Arresting officers said they chased the taxicab Ostrander was driving for some nine miles before forcing it to a stop, adding that at one occasion the cars exceeded 80 miles an hour.

West Virginia is dotted with 381 mountains which are more than 2000 feet high.

Memoriam

In loving memory of Emil Lipton, who passed away February 19, 1945.

What we would give to see your smile,
And sit with you and talk awhile.
We always think of you;
The things you used to say and do.
The memories of you are as keen today
As in the hour you passed away.

U. S. Seeks to Avoid

agreements made with the Soviets at Yalta and Potsdam they had allowed Russia to extend its domination over new areas in the Far East and eastern Europe.

Based on Red Violations

The line which Dulles took yesterday, however, was that "the enslavement of these captive peoples is due to abuse and violation of the understandings." Any repudiation, therefore, apparently would be blamed on Russian violations and not upon the claim that the understandings were themselves bad in the first place. Hence the administration would be able to appeal for Democratic as well as Republican support.

On other subjects, Dulles said:

1. A principal U. S. purpose in the Far East is to end fighting in Indochina and Korea on acceptable terms, and one way to go about this is to replace western forces such as those of France and the U. S. with native troops so that Russia would no longer have the advantage of tying up western forces in combat with Soviet satellites.

Applies to Indochina

2. This policy of relying more and more on native forces would apply to consideration of increased aid to Indochina. Also, the U. S. will be glad to make available to France the experience of American officers in training South Korean troops.

3. In the Middle East the U. S. is considering giving aid to Egypt. (Other officials said an 11 million dollar aid program is near approval). The State Department does not intend to follow a policy of cold-shouldering Israel.

4. Some experts believe proposed French additions to a pending treaty to create the European defense community, containing German units, might substantially modify the treaty. But Dulles said he understood when he was in Paris recently that this was not the French intention and he hopes that the fears may soon be allayed.

No Decision Made

New York, Feb. 19 (AP)—Minot (Mickey) Jelke's lawyer said today he has not yet decided whether to put Jelke on the witness stand to defend himself against vice charges. That will be decided, defense Counsel Martin Benjamin told newsmen, after the prosecution has finished presenting its case. Meanwhile red-haired Erica Steel, a 28-year-old alleged madam, was due on the witness stand to tell what she knows about cafe society vice.

Ulster Raising Fund

Supervisor Percy Bush of the town of Ulster announced today that a fund is being raised in the town for Holland flood victims. Already a considerable amount has been received, including one contribution of $100. Anyone in the town who desires to make a contribution to the fund may mail a contribution to Supervisor Percy Bush, 85 Yarmouth street, or call his home 692 and arrangements will be made to pick up the contributions.

Boom Business Forecast

London, Feb. 19 (AP)—Boom business in American tourists for the coronation was forecast by 14 top United States travel agents who flew into London airport today. The party arrived here for a two-day stop before flying to New Delhi to examine tourist possibilities in India. "Build seven more 1,000 bedroomed hotels in London and we could still fill them all through the summer," said Paul G. Ford, of Los Angeles.

Lenten Services

Soul Food for Lenten Feasts is the topic for discussion at the mid-week service tonight at 7:30 in the Old Dutch Church, corner of Wall and Main streets. This is the first of a series of special Lenten services conducted by the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, designed to meet the daily problems and deepen the spiritual life of people. The meetings are undenominational and applicable to all seekers after the Christian Truth. Everyone is cordially welcome.

About the Folks

Mrs. Vincent Markle of 354 Laurel street, Hartford, Conn., a former resident of Kingston, has been a patient at the Hartford Hospital. She is now convalescing at her home.

Ernest A. Steuding, local public works superintendent, underwent a minor operation at the Benedictine Hospital today. His condition, following the operation, was reported as "good."

Meets With Allies

United Nations, Feb. 19 (AP)—Chief U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., met today with representatives of the UN countries fighting in Korea to fill them in on the new Republican administration's plan for handling the Korean situation in the forthcoming general assembly. Of the 15 countries invited, Luxembourg and Ethiopia did not show up for the opening of the meeting in Lodge's office. Sir Gladwyn Jebb attended for Britain and Ambassador Henri Hoppenot for France.

Are Ready to Attack

Honolulu, Feb. 19 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Chiang Wego, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's son, says Chinese Nationalist forces on Formosa, "are prepared to attack the Communist mainland on a minute's notice." The general is en route to the mainland U. S. for a three-week tour of military installations, accompanied by four other Chinese Nationalist generals. They leave for Travis Air Force Base, California at 12 noon EST today. They arrived last night from Tokyo.

Three Bodies Are Found

New York, Feb. 19 (AP)—The bodies of three persons who had been hacked to death were found today in a ground floor apartment in the Bedford-Stuyvesant section frequently called "Brooklyn's Harlem." Other details were not known immediately.

Cashin Has Flu, Court Adjourned

County Judge John M. Cashin and Mrs. Cashin are recovering from an attack of the "flu" at the Benedictine Hospital, it was learned today.

The condition of Judge Cashin was reported "fair" today, and that of his wife was "good." Mrs. Cashin entered the hospital Tuesday and Judge Cashin went there yesterday.

Deputy County Clerk Ward B. Tongue today adjourned the February trial term of county court until Feb. 24, at 10 a. m., and jurors were excused until then.

'Uncle Tom' Is Lauded

Paris, Feb. 19 (AP)—French Education Minister Andre Marie last night lauded the American anti-slavery novel "Uncle Tom's Cabin" as the second most widely known book in the world. He put the Bible first. Marie spoke before a group of French statesmen and intellectuals gathered at the University of Paris to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the publication of Harriet Beecher Stowe's famous work. He characterized Mrs. Stowe as "this woman of action, this militant" and declared that "only this book has survived from all the literature favoring emancipation of blacks." "After the Bible this work is the most widespread in the world," he added.

Catholic Daughters Celebrate 41st Year At Governor Clinton

The 41st annual banquet of Court Santa Maria 164, Catholic Daughters of America, was well attended on Monday evening in the Crystal Room of the Governor Clinton Hotel. The Rev. Joseph L. Kerins, CSsR of Mount St. Alphonsus, Esopus, was the guest speaker.

In his interesting and educational talk, the Rev. Father Kerins stressed the importance of good thinking, and the reading of good literature.

Mrs. Vincent A. Gorman, grand regent of the court, welcomed those in attendance, and spoke briefly. She also introduced the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Stephen P. Connelly; and the Revs. Ambrose Murphy, William Raftery and Austin V. Carey.

Piano and accordion selections played by Mrs. Clementine Nessel, were enthusiastically received by the large audience.

The Rev. Father Carey, chaplain, concluded the evening with Benediction, which was followed by the singing of the hymn, Holy God We Praise Thy Name.

Mr. and Mrs. James J. Rua

Dolores Mellert Weds James J. Rua in St. Peter's Church

Miss Dolores Mellert, daughter of Mrs. Carl A. Mellert, 68 Andrew street, and the late Mr. Mellert, was wed to James J. Rua, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Rua of East Kingston, at 2:30 p. m., on Sunday, Feb. 15, in St. Peter's Church. The Rev. Joseph Geis, pastor, officiated at the ceremony. A reception for 110 guests was held at the Stuyvesant Hotel.

The church altar was decorated with pink gladioli. Miss Nan Goldrick, organist, played traditional wedding selections and accompanied Mrs. Caroline Perry, who sang Panis Angelicus and Ave Maria.

Given in marriage by her brother, Leo J. Mellert, the bride wore a halter top ballerina length gown of powder blue lace, and matching spencer jacket with three-quarter length sleeves. Her headpiece of matching lace with satin binding had a blue illusion nose veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink roses with matching bow.

Miss Rose Helen Mellert was her sister's maid-of-honor. She was attired in a strapless ballerina length gown of shell pink lace and a matching short-sleeved spencer bolero jacket, piped in satin. A headpiece of matching lace and satin piping, with an illusion veil, and a cascade bouquet of Better Times roses, completed the ensemble.

Peter A. Rua of Kingston was best man for his brother. The ushers were W. Scott Foster, a cousin to the bride, and Michael Tiano, Jr., nephew to the groom.

The couple left by plane for a trip to Fort Lauderdale, Fla. Upon their return they will reside in East Kingston. For traveling, the bride chose a navy blue suit, navy and white accessories, and a corsage of white roses.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Rua were graduated from Kingston High School. Mr. Rua is cashier at the Rondout National Bank.

Marbletown Dressings Unit Is Established

The Marbletown Health Committee, Mrs. Peter Knudsen, president, and the local unit of the Field Army of the American Cancer Society, under the leadership of Mrs. Frank Altieri, chairman, have set up a surgical dressings group to supply the needs of the Marbletown area.

Mrs. O. K. Avery, who has pioneered in Ulster county in the establishment of such dressing units, conducted a class in the making of dressings at the meeting of the Marbletown Health Committee last Tuesday night at Stone Ridge. Attending the class were Mrs. Ross Osterhoudt, vice-president and Mrs. Aloysius Emmerling, secretary of the health committee; Miss Stevens, R. N., public health nurse of the Marbletown district; Mrs. Clifford Basten; Mrs. John Basten and Mrs. Lester Roosa.

Hereafter, at regular meetings of the Marbletown Health Committee, held every third Tuesday night at the Township hall, surgical dressings will be prepared as a major project of the group. It is hoped that residents of the area will lend a hand in this work.

The attention of the public has been called to the fact that the local Loan Closet, which is substantially stocked with sickroom essentials, is housed in the Township hall, adjacent to the Stone Ridge Grange. In emergencies, necessary articles may be obtained at this location by contacting Mrs. Lester Roosa, of Stone Ridge, chairman of the loan closet, telephone High Falls 3631 or Mrs. Joseph Hoffman of Stone Ridge, telephone High Falls 5301.

Officers Installed At Mystic Court 62

The semi-public installation of newly elected officers took place recently. Sir Knight Willard Coleman, district grand lecturer of the 29th district, conducted the installation.

Besides the royal matron Helen Reese and royal patron, Albert Reese, officers installed included Lillian Czerwinski, associate matron; Hirschell Mayes, associate patron; Beulah Lockwood, conductress; Gertrude Gifford, associate conductress; Bessie Freer, secretary; Vivian Kellenberger, treasurer; Elizabeth Leith, marshal in East; Florence Campbell, marshal in West; Hattie Smythe, standard bearer; Harriett Lent, prelate; Beverly Reese, historian; Thelma Carpenter, musician; Goldie Everett, warder; Joseph Umpleby, sentinel; Anna Hermance, Truth; Helen Schoepf, Faith; Mary Evans, Wisdom; and Florence Saqui, Charity.

Honored Lady Bessie Freer was the coronation matron, Beverly Reese the crown bearer, and Almedia Trumpait the sword bearer. Rondout Commandery in full uniform assisted in the coronation.

Following the installation and coronation, Sir Knight Johnston of Nyack sang several selections. A degree was given the royal matron by the officers, and a bouquet of red carnations were given to her along with many gifts by friends. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served.

Veronica Matelski To Wed in Summer

Mr. and Mrs. George Matelski, 40 Spring street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Veronica, to Peter Dyshuk, son of Dmytro Dyshuk of Poughkeepsie and the late Mrs. Mary Dyshuk. A summer wedding is planned.

Miss Matelski was graduated from Kingston High School and is employed by International Business Machines, Corp., Poughkeepsie.

Mr. Dyshuk was graduated from Newburgh Free Academy and the University of Miami, Fla., where he received a bachelor of education degree. During World War 2, Mr. Dyshuk served for 20 months with the United States Navy.

Ulster Garden Club Opens Season, Will Exhibit in New York

The Ulster Garden Club held its first meeting of the season, Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Gerard Betz, 152 Pearl street. It was announced that several members of the club will send fern exhibits to the International Flower Show in New York, scheduled for March 8 to 14.

Because of the success of the club's tour of gardens last Summer, the Albany Garden Club is planning a Spring tour in its area.

Members agreed to send the club's vote to the meeting of the Garden Clubs of America in New Orleans, favoring a project now under advisement, to reproduce an 18th century garden at Smith's Castle in Wickford, R. I. The project, requested by the South County Garden Clubs of Rhode Island, would consist of an attractive colonial type garden, 35 by 45 feet in area. Of simple 18th century design, it would include paths edged with brick and bordered with English Box, lavender and germander; beds planted with flowers of the period, and appropriate shrubs and trees for accent and background.

Tea was served with Mrs. William Warren and Mrs. C. Victor Livingstone officiating at the tea table.

Hereafter, at regular meetings of the Marbletown Health Committee, held every third Tuesday night at the Township hall, surgical dressings will be prepared as a major project of the group. It is hoped that residents of the area will lend a hand in this work.

The attention of the public has been called to the fact that the local Loan Closet, which is substantially stocked with sickroom essentials, is housed in the Township hall, adjacent to the Stone Ridge Grange. In emergencies, necessary articles may be obtained at this location by contacting Mrs. Lester Roosa, of Stone Ridge, chairman of the loan closet, telephone High Falls 3631 or Mrs. Joseph Hoffman of Stone Ridge, telephone High Falls 5301.

Officers Installed At Mystic Court 62

The semi-public installation of newly elected officers took place recently, Sir Knight Willard Coleman, district grand lecturer of the 29th district, conducted the installation.

Besides the royal matron Helen Reese and royal patron, Albert Reese, officers installed included Lillian Czerwinski, associate matron; Hirschell Mayes, associate patron; Beulah Lockwood, conductress; Gertrude Gifford, associate conductress; Bessie Freer, secretary; Vivian Kellenberger, treasurer; Elizabeth Leith, marshal in East; Florence Campbell, marshal in West; Hattie Smythe, standard bearer; Harriett Lent, prelate; Beverly Reese, historian; Thelma Carpenter, musician; Goldie Everett, warder; Joseph Umpleby, sentinel; Anna Hermance, Truth; Helen Schoepf, Faith; Mary Evans, Wisdom; and Florence Saqui, Charity.

Honored Lady Bessie Freer was the coronation matron, Beverly Reese the crown bearer, and Almedia Trumpait the sword bearer. Rondout Commandery in full uniform assisted in the coronation.

Following the installation and coronation, Sir Knight Johnston of Nyack sang several selections. A degree was given the royal matron by the officers, and a bouquet of red carnations were given to her along with many gifts by friends. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served.

Miss Ruth Siegel Weds Isadore Shore

Miss Ruth Siegel of Kerhonkson, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Isadore Siegel, was married to Isadore Shore of Philadelphia, Pa., on Sunday afternoon, in the Kerhonkson Synagogue. Rabbi Herman Eisner of Ellenville, officiated. A reception was held in the social hall at the center.

Given in marriage by her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Siegel of New York, the bride wore a gown of beige lace and net. Her waist-length veil was secured to a close fitting cap. She carried a Bible and white orchids.

The bridegroom's attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Saul Altholz.

Ulster Garden Club Opens Season, Will Exhibit in New York

The Ulster Garden Club held its first meeting of the season, Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Gerard Betz, 152 Pearl street. It was announced that several members of the club will send fern exhibits to the International Flower Show in New York, scheduled for March 8 to 14.

Because of the success of the club's tour of gardens last Summer, the Albany Garden Club is planning a Spring tour in its area.

Members agreed to send the club's vote to the meeting of the Garden Clubs of America in New Orleans, favoring a project now under advisement, to reproduce an 18th century garden at Smith's Castle in Wickford, R. I. The project, requested by the South County Garden Clubs of Rhode Island, would consist of an attractive colonial type garden, 35 by 45 feet in area. Of simple 18th century design, it would include paths edged with brick and bordered with English Box, lavender and germander; beds planted with flowers of the period, and appropriate shrubs and trees for accent and background.

Tea was served with Mrs. William Warren and Mrs. C. Victor Livingstone officiating at the tea table.

571 Bodies Left Stranded by Strike

New York, Feb. 19 (AP)—a grave diggers strike at 10 New York metropolitan area cemeteries has stranded 571 bodies along their last, lonely journey.

At Evergreen Cemetery, one of the three non-sectarian cemeteries affected, all vaults have been filled and 77 coffins have been stacked in tents, with the chill February winds their only refrigeration.

Seven of the struck cemeteries are Jewish, and the six weeks strike has put a pitiful burden on relatives of the dead. Jewish custom requires burial before sundown of the day following death.

Many relatives have dug graves, then carried their loved ones to their last resting place because hearse drivers refused to cross cemetery picket lines.

The strike is the most severe of its kind in New York since 1949 when an eight weeks strike against two Roman Catholic cemeteries left a backlog of more than 1,000 unburied bodies.

In the 1949 strike Francis Cardinal Spellman led 200 young seminarians and priests through picket lines to dig graves.

In the current strike, a three-man state fact-finding board wound up six days of hearing yesterday in a contract dispute between the cemeteries and the AFL Cemetery Workers Union.

About 200 grave diggers struck Jan. 7 in a demand for a $10 a week wage increase plus other benefits. They made $69 a week.

The city health department makes daily inspections of the cemeteries, but cold weather has forestalled thus far any sanitary crisis. New York's sanitary code requires burial within four days of death.

Weekly Food Review

(By The Associated Press)

Meat prices moved irregularly higher in most retail food stores this week.

Boosts on beef items seldom amounted to more than a few cents a pound and many storekeepers held some popular cuts like steaks unchanged in hopes of prolonging what some dealers called "the biggest consumer beef-buying spree in years."

However, pork and lamb cuts advanced as much as 14 cents a pound in some places. The rises were ascribed chiefly to higher wholesale prices, market rallies following unusually sharp price reductions during the past couple of weeks, and to brisk buying at retail which trimmed down meat surpluses in supply channels.

Major Exceptions

Major exceptions to the higher meat trend were items being specially priced to attract shoppers planning menus for the long weekend (including the George Washington's birthday holiday Monday). Turkeys, hams and chuck roasts were favorites in this category, and were being offered at reductions of 2 to 6 cents a pound.

Price controls on milk, butter, cheese, ice cream, oleomargarine, canned milk and powdered milk were abolished yesterday (Wednesday). Price Stabilizer Joseph Freehill told newsmen he anticipated some advances on milk and dairy products here and there.

Spokesmen for some major dairy concerns in the east said they doubted there would be any widespread increase in milk prices although some specialty items (like chocolate milk) and products sold in odd-sized containers might be boosted to bring them up to "equitable" levels with other products.

As for butter, it has been selling at the government price-support level since the end of November, and the government so far has bought around 73½ million pounds under the mandatory support program.

Urges Butter Support

A dairy industry committee this week urged Agriculture Secretary Benson to continue supporting butter at a high-parity level to protect worried dairy farmers. Benson and many in the industry, however, have expressed concern over the huge federal butter inventory—especially since the flush season of butter production still is ahead. Some contend that if the price were allowed to drop 10 cents a pound, increased consumer buying at that level would soon take care of the surplus problem.

Lenten demand for eggs was credited with bringing a stronger tone in the wholesale egg market and dealers said retail prices appeared likely to advance somewhat this weekend or early next week.

Many stores also featured fish this week as the Lenten season began. And frozen fish (along with cabbage) was featured by the Agriculture Department as a most-plentiful food for thrift buying this week. The department noted that the nation's stocks of frozen fish and shellfish totaled almost 196 million pounds at the beginning of the year, compared with a five-year (1947-51) average of less than 152 million.

Price Changes

Price changes in the fresh produce departments were about evenly balanced as to advances and declines this week. Lower and rated in the good-buy class in most markets were carrots, celery and potatoes. Cabbage continued very low, and endive, spinach, squash and tomatoes were marked down slightly. Best cucumbers and lettuce advanced somewhat and unfavorable crop weather in Florida pushed peppers and eggplant higher.

The first seedless Valencia oranges of the season reached northern markets this week from Florida. Grapefruit, best apples and grapes lost a little more, tangerines a little less, and most other fruits were steady.

Accused of Extortion

New York, Feb. 19 (AP)—An automobile workers union local president and a textile printer, accused of extorting $500 from an east side embroidery shop operator as insurance for avoiding "labor trouble," were released in $1,000 bail each for hearings Feb. 26 when arraigned yesterday before Magistrate Amedeo L. Lauritano in Felony Court. Henry Gaster, 44, of 110-57 64th street, Forest Hills, Queens, president of Local 198, United Auto Workers, AFL, and George M. Cohen, 39, of 172 Stanton street, the printer, were taken into custody Tuesday after allegedly accepting $150 from William G. Engler in his shop at 162 East 23rd street.

Soldiers Plan Wrong-Way Trip

Tokyo, Feb. 19 (AP)—Two American soldiers, veterans of Korea, have obtained special permission from Gen. Mark Clark for a "wrong-way" trip home.

Lee Gotzlinger of Youngstown, Ohio, and Alfred L. Evans, Jr., of 167-07 Twelfth road, Beechhurst, N. Y., both 24, are awaiting discharge at a Tokyo army center.

They plan to start a long, slow, journey home in the next few days via such points as Formosa, Hong Kong, Singapore, Rangoon, India, the Middle East and Europe, using every form of transportation "from airplanes to camels."

It took a lot of applying and paper work to get approval for the wrong-way rotation, Gotzlinger and Evans said. They hope to study political and economic trends in the countries they visit and to write their findings when they return to the United States.

Gotzlinger spent 16 months in Korea and Evans 18. Both were in the army finance section.

Meeting Is Postponed

The regular monthly meeting of the Civil Service Employes Association, scheduled for Monday, has been postponed because of observance of Washington's birthday, it was announced today. Members are reminded that a hearing will be held in the Common Council chamber, city hall, at 7:30 p. m., Tuesday, on proposed revision of local civil service rules.

Highland

Highland, Feb. 19—Chapter A, PEO will hold a food sale Friday, Feb. 27 in DeZort's market with Mrs. Perry Wilson and Mrs. Arthur Clarke the chairmen. The sale will open at 3 o'clock.

Principal W. H. Yates was home a couple days the first of the week from illness.

Mrs. James Shurter, Marlborough visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Dusinberre Thursday.

The UD Society meets Saturday afternoon with Miss Belle Brinckerhoff.

Mrs. Catherine Pappas has joined her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Patrick in Miami, Fla.

Favorite Operas will be the subject of the program arranged by Mrs. Nathan Williams for the meeting of the Music Study Club on March 3 at the home of Miss Edna Curry.

Mrs. Meredith Turner presided at the meeting of the Ganse Church School Society Thursday evening with Mrs. Gordon E. Wilcox, in the absence of the president, Mrs. James Phillips. The nursery school was presided over last Sunday by Mrs. Vernon Venne; February 22 will be Mrs. Lois McKay; March 1, Mrs. Parker Decker. The two guests were the Misses Martha Mann and Dorothy Jansen who are doing work at the Wiltwyck School and told of the work among the boys who are sent there. The meeting on March 12, will be with Mrs. W. H. Yates. Mrs. Stanley Jones will be in charge of the evening's program.

March 20 has been set for a food sale in charge of Mrs. Thomas Sears for the Ladies' Aid Society. The sale will be in DeZort's market.

The Rt. Rev. Robert Campbell, OHC, retired bishop of Liberia, will administer the confirmation rites to a class of candidates from Holy Trinity Episcopal Church and from the Ascension Church at West Park at 11 o'clock, Sunday, March 8. Following the service a reception will be held in the parish house when the members can greet the class just confirmed and also the bishop.

Harrison Horan, Jr., Poughkeepsie, was the speaker at the Monday night meeting of the Lions Club following dinner at Broglio's. He was formerly vice president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce in that city and had served in World War 2 in Germany. He was recalled in 1950 and with his family have just returned. He gave his impressions of what had happened in the years he had been home and the changes that had taken place in industry and the progress the Germans had made.

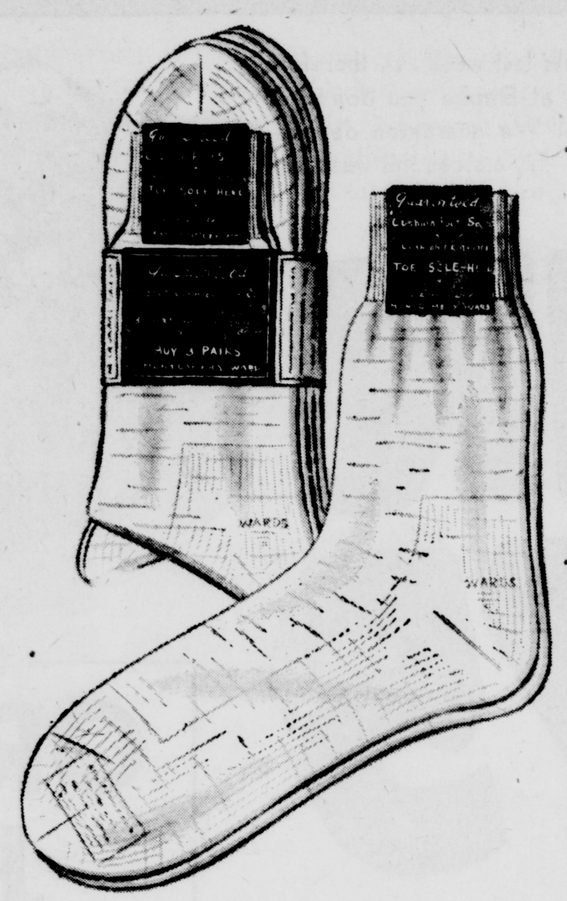

Drastic Steps Asked

Mexico City, Feb. 19 (AP)—The Mexican Tourist Association has asked President Ruiz Cortines to take drastic steps to halt holdups and robberies of North American tourists. The powerful association asked for an immediate investigation into recent violence, saying that not only was the tourist trade being endangered, but Mexico itself was getting a bad name as an uncivilized nation. Three of the holdups have occurred within a month between Mexico City and the Pyramids at San Juan Teotihuacan. Each of the Pyramid robberies took place at about the same locality, and involved two men and a woman, the latter apparently the leader of the gang.

Groundhogs are found across the northern part of North America from Nova Scotia to Alaska and as far south as Oklahoma.

Howard A. Lewis' Report Read at Sorosis Club.

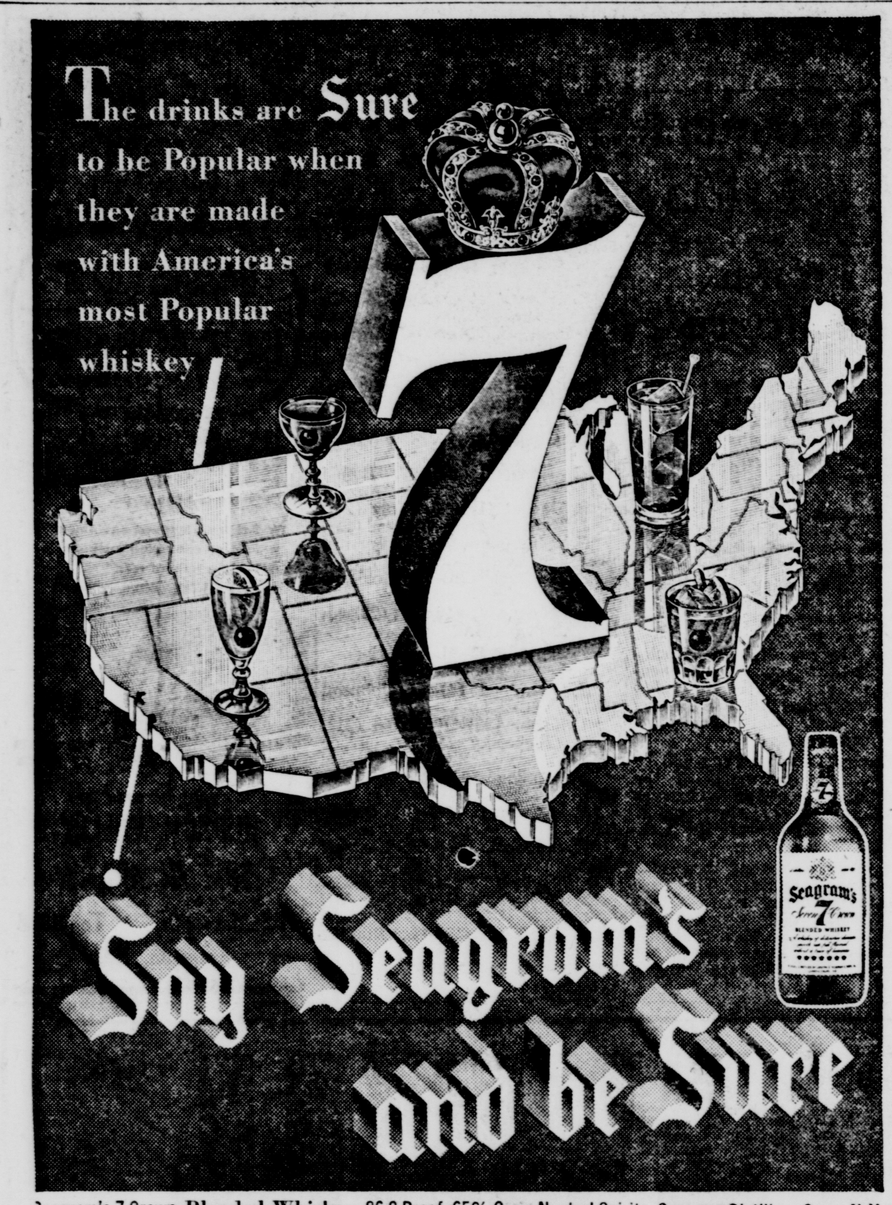

An account of a trip around the world, written by Howard A. Lewis of this city, was the topic given by Mrs. George W. Ross at Sorosis on Monday afternoon.

"The world needs food, not guns. Food will stop the progress of communism," Mr. Lewis wrote in his economic and social survey of Hawaii, New Zealand, Australia, Malaya, India, Lebanon and Turkey.

As a result of American aid sent to Turkey, Mr. Lewis' report indicated, Turkey has not only a large well trained army but also a surplus of one and one-half million tons of wheat to sell.

Sorosis will next meet at the home of Mrs. C. J. Heiselman, 173 West Chestnut street, on Monday, March 2.

Married in Woodstock Methodist Church

MRS. JOHN MANDRICK

Miss Rosemary Wilber Weds John Mandrick

The marriage of Miss Rosemary Wilber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Wilber, Lake Hill, to John Mandrick of Lake Hill, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Mandrick, West Virginia, took place on Saturday, Feb. 14, in the Woodstock Methodist Church, Woodstock. The Rev. Kenneth Dearstyne, pastor, officiated at the ceremony. A reception for 40 guests was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Traditional wedding selections were played by Mrs. Richard Jeffery, organist.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a ballerina length gown, styled with a lace bodice, long sleeves, and French imported tulle skirt. Her fingertip veil was attached to a tiara of seed pearls and rhinestones. She carried a bouquet of white roses.

Miss Lois Shultis of Bearsville was the maid-of-honor. With her blue lace and tulle, ballerina length gown, she wore a shoulder length veil and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Walter Kroyer of Hackensack, N. J., was best man.

The couple left for a trip to West Virginia. They will reside in Lake Hill. For traveling, the bride chose an aqua dress, black accessories and a rose corsage.

Msgr. Drury Named Director, Bishops' War Victims' Fund

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Martin J. Drury, PR, VF, has been named regional director of Ulster and Sullivan counties for the 1953 campaign of the Bishops' Fund for Victims of War. Honorary county chairman appointed are the Rev. William B. Duggan and the Rev. William A. Cassidy. Francis Cardinal Spellman, Archbishop of New York, will address the newly appointed directors at an organization meeting scheduled for 3 p. m. on Tuesday, Feb. 24, at 451 Madison avenue, New York city.

The announcement was made by the Rev. John F. McCarthy, diocesan director of the campaign, who will outline the organization plans in the New York area for which the goal of $250,000 has been set to be realized through the Lenten contributions of Catholic school children and an envelope collection in all Catholic Churches of the archdiocese March 15.

Other speakers will include, the Rev. Aloysius J. Wycislo, assistant executive director of War Relief Services, NCWC, and Edward M. Kinney, campaign manager. Mr. Kinney, recently returned from a tour of Germany, Italy, Korea and the Middle East, will give an illustrated talk on the relief services being conducted in those countries.

The 15,000 Catholic parishes throughout the United States are all participating in this year's appeal for the Bishops' Fund and the national goal is $5,000,000. It will be used exclusively to carry on the worldwide services of the two overseas relief agencies of the Catholic Hierarchy.

HUSBAND'S ESCAPE

A letter from a man tells me: "I like to read, and when my wife has a woman friend stop in to see her in the evening, I see no good reason why, after talking a few minutes with her, I shouldn't excuse myself and take to the other side of the living room and continue reading. However, my wife thinks this is rude. Your agreement with me would be very much appreciated I assure you."

While it might not seem rude if she and your wife were to be absorbed in their conversation, it would be safest, as well as best manners, to greet her politely, then leave the room and read elsewhere.

Sticky Fingers

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me if it is proper to use your drinking glass for a finger bowl after you finish your meal? I mean when finger bowls are not served. It was shocking to see this done at a hotel by a man who otherwise seemed to have acceptable table manners.

Answer: To put your fingers into your glass?—Definitely no! But if fingers are sticky, you could hold a corner of your napking against the rim of your glass and tipping it slightly to moisten the corner, wipe your fingers on it.

According to Accepted Social Usage

Dear Mrs. Post: In addressing letters or other messages to a widow, which is correct: Mrs. William Brown or Mrs. Sara Brown? I have always been under the impression that when a woman's husband dies, it is correct to address her as Mrs. Sara Brown as there is no longer any William Brown and, therefore, there cannot be any Mrs. William Brown. Will you please comment on this as I am sure many are confused about it.

Answer: "Mrs." followed by a woman's Christian name is in very bad taste, socially. When she married William Brown, he gave her his name and she keeps it all her life—unless she remarries.

Skiers Fare Well During Placid's Winter Carnival

Martha Davenport Is Awarded Medal

Martha Davenport, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Davenport of Stone Ridge, turned in the most outstanding performance for the Kingston High School ski squad during the King Winter Carnival sponsored by Lake Placid last weekend.

Miss Davenport placed a close third in the Girls' Slalom event and was awarded a medal for her effort. The medal was the first given to a local ski member this year.

On the whole, Kingston skiers fared very well during the two-day meet especially for a team which has been handicapped by the lack of proper skiing conditions in the area.

Kuntz Places Ninth

Another member of the KHS squad, Louis Kuntz, sparkled with his performance in the Class A Downhill event for boys.

With five schools competing Friday morning in the Downhill on Whitney Trail, Kuntz placed ninth to lead the local competitors.

Roger Billings finished 14th, Tom Davenport of Ellenville 20th, Ken Tokle, a nephew of the late famous Torger Tokle and Art Tokle, placed 23rd and Jack Effner in 24th position.

Fred Yole of Northwoods won the event. Other schools participating were Lake Placid, Old Forge and Port Leyden.

In the Girls' Downhill event, held over the lower half of the trail, Martha placed fourth while only a fifth of a second behind her was her sister, Beverly Davenport. Barbara Davenport finished 10th. Sally Smith of Lake Placid won the event.

The five KHS boys all finished in the same category during the cross country event held Friday afternoon. Tom Davenport placed 17th, Billings 20th, Kuntz 21st, Tokle 22nd and Effner 24th.

Tokle Is 19th

Ken Tokle led the KHS representatives during the running of the Slalom Race on Scott's Cobble ski slope Saturday morning. Tokle finished in 19th place. Kuntz placed 20th, Billings 21st and Effner 24th.

In the Girls' Slalom race, Martha Davenport turned in a credible performance when she placed third. Her sister, Barbara, finished 13th while another Davenport, Beverly, placed seventh. Sally Smith of Lake Placid also won this event. Second was Rene Cox of Port Leyden, both regarded as top Eastern Junior skiers. In the combined scores, Martha Davenport placed third, Beverly fifth and Barbara Davenport 11th.

On Saturday afternoon, Ken Tokle took part in the exhibition jumping and turned in a leap of 56 feet. His performance was well received but Tokle fell during the outrun. The longest jump was made by Fred Yole who arched 57 feet.

Following the meet, some of the local skiers drove out to Mt. Whitney where they watched some of the top Canadian and United States women skiers competing for the Kate Smith trophy. Later the group enjoyed skiing on the famed slope.

The Winter Carnival wound up on a happy scale Saturday night with the Icicle Hop and the crowning of the Carnival's King and Queen.

Accompanying the ski team to Lake Placid were Miss Pat Nolton of the KHS physical department; Mr. and Mrs. Roger Billings of Kingston and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Davenport of Stone Ridge.

School 3 Scores Easy Grade Loop Win, 65-8

School 3 won an overwhelming decision in its Grade School Basketball League competition Tuesday with a 65 to 8 victory over School 7.

Paced by G. Rion and C. Williams who scored 13 points apiece, School 3 enjoyed a 21-0 lead at the first period and doubled its lead to 42-2 at the half.

Dunham and Nagele scored all of School 7's eight points.

School 3 (65)—Hobart, f, 1-2-4; Levy, f, 4-0-8; Boice, f, 5-0-10; Williams, c, 6-1-13; E. Rion, c, 4-0-8; Peck, g, 2-0-4; G. Rion, g, 6-1-13; B. Rodin, g, 2-1-5; J. Rodin, g, 0-0-0.

School 7 (8)—Dunham, f, 2-1-5; Harper, f, 0-0-0; Nagele, c, 1-1-3; Roberti, g, 0-0-0; Johnson, g, 0-0-0.

Middleweight Shot Is Sought by Miceli

Miami, Fla., Feb. 19 (AP)—Joe Miceli, aggressive New York soldier, planned a campaign in the middleweight ranks today after chopping out a 10-round decision over Bobby Dykes in Coral Gables Coliseum Wednesday night.

The tough army private, who used a slashing left to pile up a heavy point margin against the favored Dykes in the early rounds, is scheduled to leave the service in a month.

Then, he said, he plans to go after a shot at the middleweight crown vacated by Sugar Ray Robinson.

"I'm in wonderful shape," Miceli declared in his dressing room after he had been awarded a split decision over Dykes, a 2-1 favorite. "I could have gone another ten rounds."

Miceli, the sixth ranking welterweight contender, weighed 151, four pounds over the welter limit.

Dykes, making his debut as a middleweight, weighed 157½. His performance was extremely disappointing to a home-town audience that saw him at his best last year when he held Kid Gavilan to a narrow decision in a battle for the welterweight crown.

Boys Club Fares Well in Tourney

The Kingston Boys Club placed fifth in the Northeastern New York Junior Boys' Club bowling tournament held recently, it was learned today.

Representing the local organization were Roy Havens who fired 110, Nick Cosmos, Jr., 93; Ray Reilly 87 and Jim Burzee 81. The locals had a team total of 371.

The Troy Boys' Club won the tournament with a top score of 526.

It was pointed out that the local club did well to finish as high as fifth in the competition. The tournament was conducted on a two-way bowling alley which is considerably smaller than the regulation alley. The locals have never bowled on this type of alley before.

Following is the tournament result:

1. Troy Boys Club 526
2. Albany Boys Club, Beaver street 463
3. Albany Boys Club, Sherman street 444
4. Schenectady Boys Club ..374
5. Kingston Boys Club 371

O'Connor Seen as Title Prospect; Heads Wrestling Show Here Friday

Pat O'Connor, who features Friday's wrestling show at Kingston Municipal Auditorium, is regarded as the "outstanding young title prospect" on the pro mat by the men who should know—the promoters.

During the last National Wrestling Alliance convention, most promoters expressed the opinion that O'Connor, who hails from New Zealand and will grapple Pedro Godoy two out of three falls Friday, would eventually succeed Champion Lou Thesz.

And that's high sounding praise for an athlete who can brag no more than two full years of making money by trying to kick other people's teeth out with wrestling drop kicks.

However, lest O'Connor's poise and savvy belie his short professional experience, it should be pointed out that he wrestled as an amateur in New Zealand for six years before deciding to make his living bending bones.

Much of his wrestling polish, he says, was picked up from Butch Levy, former University of Minnesota football and wrestling star who was touring New Zealand and Australia. He got more pointers from another former Gopher, Joe Pazandak, who took him in hand after he arrived in this country in 1950.

Hit With TV Fans

The 26-year-old O'Connor, whose flying drop kicks and blistering shoulder blocks have taken the fancy of fans from coast to coast through TV and personal appearances, is taking on a tough opponent in Godoy.

Pedro hasn't received the O'Connor type of build up, but he's a pleasing workman with a fine knowledge of holds and a desire to spring an upset here and there.

The co-feature is a two out of three fall tussle between Jim Austeri, 5 foot, 7 inches, from New York, and colorful Jack Bence of Pittsfield, Mass.

Austeri known as the "Little Big Man," knows about all the tricks in the book and is just rough enough to make Bence go all out.

The show opens at 8:45 o'clock with Ed King of Poughkeepsie, one-time Seton Hall basketball player, taking on Johnny Barend, Rochester, over the one fall, or 30 minute distance.

Seattle, Jaspers Invited To NIT Opening on March 7

New York, Feb. 19 (AP)—Invitations have been extended to Seattle and Manhattan to join the defending champions from La Salle, unbeaten Seton Hall and Western Kentucky in the National Invitation Basketball Tournament opening in Madison Square Garden March 7.

H. A. Brightman, coach of Seattle which features high scoring Johnny O'Brien and his twin brother, Eddie, from nearby South Amboy, N. J., annuonced last night school officials have received an invitation but had not acted on it.

And from an authoritative source here it was learned Manhattan also has been invited to participate in the 12-team tournament, which will extend through March 14. Manhattan was expected to accept today after downing St. Francis of Brooklyn 62-60 last night.

These are the only two invitations that actually have been sent out, the source said, although feelers have been extended to a number of other schools.

Feelers Sent to 15

Asa Bushnell, chairman of the selection committee, said feelers were sent to 15 schools, including those already selected, but he declined to identify the others.

The group, however, is believed to include Duquesne, St. Johns of Brooklyn, Louisville, Miami of Ohio, Niagara, Oklahoma City, St. Louis, North Carolina, North Carolina State and Holy Cross.

Most of the schools under consideration, including Seattle and Manhattan, also are eligible as a conference representative or a competitor at-large for the National Collegiate Athletic Association's 23-team tournament opening March 9. Under NCAA rules, teams competing in its tourney can not enter any other post-season competition.

Tournament competition will be uppermost in the minds of the players of three of the four teams playing in the next-to-last regular season doubleheader in the Garden tonight.

The three are among those who have received feelers. They are St. Louis (12-9), Niagara (17-4) and St. Johns of Brooklyn (11-5) the Billikens of St. Louis, an improving outfit, meet New York University and Niagara tangles with St. Johns.

Perpetua Tops Grade Schoolers With 36

George Washington School, School 6 and School 3 scored triumphs in the Grade School Basketball League this week.

GWS turned back No. 2 by 55 to 33, School 6 defeated School 2 by 45 to 32 and School 3 registered an easy 48 to 18 conquest over School 2.

T. Perpetua of the GWS quintet was the top scorer in the contests with 36 points on 17 fields and two foul shots. Second high honors went to M. Amato of School 2 who bucketed 21 markers.

The scores:

GWS (55)—Perpetua 17-2-36; Havens 0-0-0; McFarland 1-0-2; Cosenza 3-0-6; Keizer 2-0-4; Miller 0-1-1; Ellsworth 0-1-1; Jansen 1-0-2; McDermott 1-1-3.

School 2 (33)—Tivum 1-0-2; Ferro 7-0-14; Pratt 3-1-7; Johnson 0-1-1; Ricketson 3-3-9; Baker 0-0-0.

School 6 (45)—McDonough 4-1-9; Uhl 4-0-8; Quick 7-2-16; Perry 0-3-3; Fulton 4-1-9; Hyatt 0-0-0; Stagler 0-0-0; Herwig 0-0-0; Natoli 0-0-0; Fuoco 0-0-0.

School 2 (32)—Amato 10-1-21; Spadafora 3-0-6; Dutcher 2-0-4; Turck 0-0-0; Caterina 0-0-0; Biganda 0-0-0; Banks 0-1-1; Lord 0-0-0.

School 3 (48)—Hobart 1-0-2; Levy 5-1-11; Boice 8-2-18; Williams 8-1-17; Rion 0-0-0; G. Rion 0-0-0; Rodden 0-1-1; J. Rodden 0-0-0; Peck 0-0-0.

School 2 (18)—Ferraro 3-0-6; Lawrence 0-0-0; Pratt 0-0-0; Ricketson 3-0-6; Tivum 1-0-2; Johnson 2-0-4.

May Be Repetition

St. Augustine, Fla., Feb. 19 (AP)—Harvie Ward and David (Spec) Goldman overshadowed Dynamite Goodloe, the defending champion, starting today's first round of match play in the National Tournament of Golf Club Champions. To Goodloe, from Valdosta, Ga., this was just a repetition of last year. Ward, the British amateur champion from Atlanta, was medalist then too but dropped out in the second round of match play and Goodloe went on to win.

O'Connor Seen as Title Prospect; Heads Wrestling Show Here Friday

Pat O'Connor, who features Friday's wrestling show at Kingston Municipal Auditorium, is regarded as the "outstanding young title prospect" on the pro mat by the men who should know—the promoters.

During the last National Wrestling Alliance convention, most promoters expressed the opinion that O'Connor, who hails from New Zealand and will grapple Pedro Godoy two out of three falls Friday, would eventually succeed Champion Lou Thesz.

And that's high sounding praise for an athlete who can brag no more than two full years of making money by trying to kick other people's teeth out with wrestling drop kicks.

However, lest O'Connor's poise and savvy belie his short professional experience, it should be pointed out that he wrestled as an amateur in New Zealand for six years before deciding to make his living bending bones.

Much of his wrestling polish, he says, was picked up from Butch Levy, former University of Minnesota football and wrestling star who was touring New Zealand and Australia. He got more pointers from another former Gopher, Joe Pazandak, who took him in hand after he arrived in this country in 1950.

Hit With TV Fans

The 26-year-old O'Connor, whose flying drop kicks and blistering shoulder blocks have taken the fancy of fans from coast to coast through TV and personal appearances, is taking on a tough opponent in Godoy.

Pedro hasn't received the O'Connor type of build up, but he's a pleasing workman with a fine knowledge of holds and a desire to spring an upset here and there.

The co-feature is a two out of three fall tussle between Jim Austeri, 5 foot, 7 inches, from New York, and colorful Jack Bence of Pittsfield, Mass.

Austeri known as the "Little Big Man," knows about all the tricks in the book and is just rough enough to make Bence go all out.

The show opens at 8:45 o'clock with Ed King of Poughkeepsie, one-time Seton Hall basketball player, taking on Johnny Barend, Rochester, over the one fall, or 30 minute distance.

Perpetua Tops Grade Schoolers With 36

George Washington School, School 6 and School 3 scored triumphs in the Grade School Basketball League this week.

GWS turned back No. 2 by 55 to 33, School 6 defeated School 2 by 45 to 32 and School 3 registered an easy 48 to 18 conquest over School 2.

T. Perpetua of the GWS quintet was the top scorer in the contests with 36 points on 17 fields and two foul shots. Second high honors went to M. Amato of School 2 who bucketed 21 markers.

The scores:

GWS (55)—Perpetua 17-2-36; Havens 0-0-0; McFarland 1-0-2; Cosenza 3-0-6; Keizer 2-0-4; Miller 0-1-1; Ellsworth 0-1-1; Jansen 1-0-2; McDermott 1-1-3.

May Be Repetition

St. Augustine, Fla., Feb. 19 (AP)—Harvie Ward and David (Spec) Goldman overshadowed Dynamite Goodloe, the defending champion, starting today's first round of match play in the National Tournament of Golf Club Champions. To Goodloe, from Valdosta, Ga., this was just a repetition of last year. Ward, the British amateur champion from Atlanta, was medalist then too but dropped out in the second round of match play and Goodloe went on to win.

Seattle, Jaspers Invited To NIT Opening on March 7

New York, Feb. 19 (AP)—Invitations have been extended to Seattle and Manhattan to join the defending champions from La Salle, unbeaten Seton Hall and Western Kentucky in the National Invitation Basketball Tournament opening in Madison Square Garden March 7.

H. A. Brightman, coach of Seattle which features high scoring Johnny O'Brien and his twin brother, Eddie, from nearby South Amboy, N. J., annuonced last night school officials have received an invitation but had not acted on it.

And from an authoritative source here it was learned Manhattan also has been invited to participate in the 12-team tournament, which will extend through March 14. Manhattan was expected to accept today after downing St. Francis of Brooklyn 62-60 last night.

These are the only two invitations that actually have been sent out, the source said, although feelers have been extended to a number of other schools.

Feelers Sent to 15

Asa Bushnell, chairman of the selection committee, said feelers were sent to 15 schools, including those already selected, but he declined to identify the others.

The group, however, is believed to include Duquesne, St. Johns of Brooklyn, Louisville, Miami of Ohio, Niagara, Oklahoma City, St. Louis, North Carolina, North Carolina State and Holy Cross.

Most of the schools under consideration, including Seattle and Manhattan, also are eligible as a conference representative or a competitor at-large for the National Collegiate Athletic Association's 23-team tournament opening March 9. Under NCAA rules, teams competing in its tourney can not enter any other post-season competition.

Tournament competition will be uppermost in the minds of the players of three of the four teams playing in the next-to-last regular season doubleheader in the Garden tonight.

The three are among those who have received feelers. They are St. Louis (12-9), Niagara (17-4) and St. Johns of Brooklyn (11-5) the Billikens of St. Louis, an improving outfit, meet New York University and Niagara tangles with St. Johns.

1953 Tournament Champions

Rolling a 2970 net score, the Economy Excavators are recognized as the Kingston Bowling Association's tournament champions following the completion of the five-man events held last week at the Central Rec alleys. Members of the championship club are (l-r) Larry Weishaupt (574); Jack Houghtaling (614); Charlie Manfro (533), holding the sponsor's trophy; Harold Broskie (642) and Fred Schryver (607). The Excavators' 3147 gross triple also was good for second place in that division. (Freemdn photo)

The Newkirk Aces outlasted the Blue Devils in the YMCA "B" Division Basketball League Wednesday night when they pulled out a sensational 89 to 87 victory in a Frank Merriwell overtime finish.

For the Devils, it was their first loss of the current round and sent them into a three-way tie for first place with the Village Rest and Waterous Lumber. All three clubs have won two and dropped one.

But last night's setback was a bitter one for the Devils to swallow.

The regulation game was knotter at four times and the close play of the Aces and the Devils resulted in another tie during the three-minute overtime period.

Kaplan Ties Game

With the regular game score at 82-80, the Devils trailing, Jerry Kaplan was fouled by Frank Tiano on a fast dribble in for a layup. The Blue Devils needed both free throws with only five seconds remaining. Kaplan made both to tie the game and sent it into overtime.

Huyler Van Wagenen scored the first deuce for the Blue Devils, followed by a two-pointer from underneath by Kozlowski of the Aces. Then Bill Crosby slipped in a free throw for Newkirks, Kaplan tied the score at 85-all with a one-pointer as the clock showed one minute and 45 seconds remaining.

Crosby sent the Aces ahead on a free throw but on a fast pass from out of bounds by Bruce Hinkley to Van Wagenen for a quick layup, the Devils forged ahead again and knotted the score with a free throw.

After Hinkley missed a one-hander, Kozlowski slipped in a neat one-hander from a side dribble to clinch the game for the Aces.

The boxscore:

Newkirk Aces (89)

CYO Cage Games Slated Tonight

CYO county championships in the 100-pound and 120-pound brackets will be decided tonight at the MJM gym in games to which the parents have been invited. The first game will start at 7 p. m. The 100-pound game will bring together St. Colman's, East Kingston, and St. Mary's.

The 120-pound game will feature St. Joseph's and Immaculate Conception.

The third game will be an exhibition game between St. Joseph's 100-pound and St. Mary's 120-pound teams. Each of the teams battling for county champs have dropped one game to the other. The winners tonight will go on to higher competition in Newburgh and New York at later dates.

Next Thursday night six CYO 85-pound teams will put on a similar group of games at MJM for the parents. The CYO grade school league has been in operation this year since November and as the boys play most of their games without audience, the games tonight and next Thursday have been arranged to give the parents a chance to see their sons in action.

Young-Durando Bout Clearance Expected Today

New York, Feb. 19 (AP) — The last hitch to the first match in the new tournament to find an American middleweight challenger probably will be removed today.

Harry Markson of the International Boxing Club said he expects a cable from Jack Solomons, the London promoter, clearing the way for a Paddy Young-Ernie Durando bout here March 27.

Solomons got into the act because Young had signed with him for a fight in London March 17 against Handy Randy Turpin, the world champion.

It was understood here that Walter Cartier, a better than average New York middleweight, had been offered to Solomons as a replacement for Young.

The IBC announced the Young-Durando match yesterday. Several hours later Solomons, in London, claimed he had not yet agreed to release the American from his contract. Then the IBC had another transatlantic conversation with Solomons and, Markson said, the London promoter agreed to send a cable today releasing Young.

Will Meet Olson

The new American tournament, which replaced an unworkable 11-man competition, calls for the winner of the Durando-Young battle to fight Carl (Bobo) Olson of San Francisco for the American title.

When last heard from, Olson and his manager, Sid Flaherty, were violently opposed to this routine, claiming they already had an agreement for a fight for the "world title" with Turpin in London, June 9.

Solomons and Flaherty met several times while the British promoter was in this country last week. But since he has been home Solomons hasn't said anything about having signed Olson.

Olson has been told, indirectly but in strong terms, that he better give up any ideas of bypassing the American eliminations unless he wants to be bypassed right out of the title picture.

Speaking at a New York boxing luncheon yesterday, Abe Greene, commissioner of the National Boxing Association, threatened that the NBA, working with the New York State Boxing Commission, might recognize a fight between Turpin and Charles Humez of France for the world title if American fighters continue to set up "impossible barriers."

Tourney Lineup

Here is the way the tournament may well end up:

Durando vs. Young at Madison Square Garden March 27.

Olson vs. the Durando-Young winner somewhere outside New York in May.

Turpin vs. Humez at London June 9 with Solomons claiming it as a "world title fight."

The Turpin-Humez winner vs. the remaining American at a New York ball park in September with everybody agreeing to call the winner the world champion.

Former Racing Greats Among 10 Elected to Hall of Fame

Detroit, Feb. 19 (AP)—Auto racing's newly organized Hall of Fame today opened its doors for the first time to receive the names of ten of the sport's pioneer greats.

Among those elected to the Hall of Fame, located at the Edison Institute in Greenfield Village, were such early racing greats as Barney Oldfield, Louis Chevrolet, Ray Harroun and Henry Ford.

Ralph Thomas, president of the American Automobile Association, and Col. Arthur W. Herrington, chairman of the AAA contest board, announced the 10 candidates last night at a dinner honoring the hall and its first tennants.

In addition to Oldfield, Chevrolet, Harroun, and Ford, representatives of the auto industry, the press, and auto racing, elected Bert Dingley, Carl Fisher, William K. Vanderbilt, Harvey Firestone, Sr., T. E. (Pop) Meyers, and Fred Wagner.

Of the 10 only Meyers, Harroun, and Dingley are alive. Meyers at 79, is still active in auto racing as a vice president of the Indianapolis Speedway.

Ford, the founder of the vast industrial empire, was one of the first auto racing enthusiasts. The automotive pioneer set the first recognized speed record for the mile in 1904. Ford furnished the car in which Oldfield drove to fame and battled Chevrolet in many speed duels.

Won First '500' Race

Harroun was the first driver to win the "500" at Indianapolis. He also won the AAA point crown for drivers in 1910.

Dingley won the point crown in 1909.

Oldfield and Chevrolet were the top early drivers. They battled each other for speed honors. Oldfield gained fame by driving Ford's famed "999" racing car.

Firestone was the founder of the tire company which developed the racing rubber that permits fantastic speeds today on the nation's speedways.

Fisher founded the Indianapolis speedway after a frustrating career as a race driver.

Vanderbilt, of the famed Long Island family, gained distinction as the first international race driver. He also established the famed Vanderbilt Cup Race.

Wagner was generally considered the first historian and publicist of the sport. He also was rated a top starter in auto racing, often drawing $1,000 for an appearance. Wagner is credited with devising the present flag system in use on the nation's speedways.

The first candidates for the Hall of Fame were limited to racing greats whose career dated prior to 1911. Next year the panel of selectors will pick auto racing immortals from the years 1911-1920. A 75 per cent majority of the votes cast is required for election to the Hall of Fame.

Won't Quit School

Rio Grande, O., Feb. 19 (AP)—Clarence (Bevo) Francis, the hottest thing in college basketball today, says he will stick by Rio Grande College and coach who pushed him into national prominence. Bevo denied he was going to leave Rio Grande and blamed misinterpretation of statements he made over a radio station for the report he might quit. Francis leads college cage scorers with 1,646 points in 33 games.

Monmouth Park ranked fifth among all race tracks in the nation in total purse distribution in 1952. The course dispersed $1,786,645 for a daily average of $36,308.

1953 Tournament Champions

Rolling a 2970 net score, the Economy Excavators are recognized as the Kingston Bowling Association's tournament champions following the completion of the five-man events held last week at the Central Rec alleys. Members of the championship club are (l-r) Larry Weishaupt (574); Jack Houghtaling (614); Charlie Manfro (533), holding the sponsor's trophy; Harold Broskie (642) and Fred Schryver (607). The Excavators' 3147 gross triple also was good for second place in that division. (Freeman photo)

The Newkirk Aces outlasted the Blue Devils in the YMCA "B" Division Basketball League Wednesday night when they pulled out a sensational 89 to 87 victory in a Frank Merriwell overtime finish.

For the Devils, it was their first loss of the current round and sent them into a three-way tie for first place with the Village Rest and Waterous Lumber. All three clubs have won two and dropped one.

But last night's setback was a bitter one for the Devils to swallow.

The regulation game was knotter at four times and the close play of the Aces and the Devils resulted in another tie during the three-minute overtime period.

Kaplan Ties Game

With the regular game score at 82-80, the Devils trailing, Jerry Kaplan was fouled by Frank Tiano on a fast dribble in for a layup. The Blue Devils needed both free throws with only five seconds remaining. Kaplan made both to tie the game and sent it into overtime.

Huyler Van Wagenen scored the first deuce for the Blue Devils, followed by a two-pointer from underneath by Kozlowski of the Aces. Then Bill Crosby slipped in a free throw for Newkirks, Kaplan tied the score at 85-all with a one-pointer as the clock showed one minute and 45 seconds remaining.

Crosby sent the Aces ahead on a free throw but on a fast pass from out of bounds by Bruce Hinkley to Van Wagenen for a quick layup, the Devils forged ahead again and knotted the score with a free throw.

After Hinkley missed a one-hander, Kozlowski slipped in a neat one-hander from a side dribble to clinch the game for the Aces.

Individual scoring star of the game was Paul Houghtaling of the Aces who found the range for 34 points. Kozlowski, the Aces' hero, scored 26, Van Wagenen topped the Devils with 25 while Kaplan hit for 20.

The boxscore:

CYO Cage Games Slated Tonight

CYO county championships in the 100-pound and 120-pound brackets will be decided tonight at the MJM gym in games to which the parents have been invited. The first game will start at 7 p. m. The 100-pound game will bring together St. Colman's, East Kingston, and St. Mary's.

The 120-pound game will feature St. Joseph's and Immaculate Conception.

The third game will be an exhibition game between St. Joseph's 100-pound and St. Mary's 120-pound teams. Each of the teams battling for county champs have dropped one game to the other. The winners tonight will go on to higher competition in Newburgh and New York at later dates.

Next Thursday night six CYO 85-pound teams will put on a similar group of games at MJM for the parents. The CYO grade school league has been in operation this year since November and as the boys play most of their games without audience, the games tonight and next Thursday have been arranged to give the parents a chance to see their sons in action.

Young-Durando Bout Clearance Expected Today

New York, Feb. 19 (AP) — The last hitch to the first match in the new tournament to find an American middleweight challenger probably will be removed today.

Harry Markson of the International Boxing Club said he expects a cable from Jack Solomons, the London promoter, clearing the way for a Paddy Young-Ernie Durando bout here March 27.

Solomons got into the act because Young had signed with him for a fight in London March 17 against Handy Randy Turpin, the world champion.

It was understood here that Walter Cartier, a better than average New York middleweight, had been offered to Solomons as a replacement for Young.

The IBC announced the Young-Durando match yesterday. Several hours later Solomons, in London, claimed he had not yet agreed to release the American from his contract. Then the IBC had another transatlantic conversation with Solomons and, Markson said, the London promoter agreed to send a cable today releasing Young.

Will Meet Olson

The new American tournament, which replaced an unworkable 11-man competition, calls for the winner of the Durando-Young battle to fight Carl (Bobo) Olson of San Francisco for the American title.

When last heard from, Olson and his manager, Sid Flaherty, were violently opposed to this routine, claiming they already had an agreement for a fight for the "world title" with Turpin in London, June 9.

Solomons and Flaherty met several times while the British promoter was in this country last week. But since he has been home Solomons hasn't said anything about having signed Olson.

Olson has been told, indirectly but in strong terms, that he better give up any ideas of bypassing the American eliminations unless he wants to be bypassed right out of the title picture.

Speaking at a New York boxing luncheon yesterday, Abe Greene, commissioner of the National Boxing Association, threatened that the NBA, working with the New York State Boxing Commission, might recognize a fight between Turpin and Charles Humez of France for the world title if American fighters continue to set up "impossible barriers."

Tourney Lineup

Here is the way the tournament may well end up:

Durando vs. Young at Madison Square Garden March 27.

Olson vs. the Durando-Young winner somewhere outside New York in May.

Turpin vs. Humez at London June 9 with Solomons claiming it as a "world title fight."

The Turpin-Humez winner vs. the remaining American at a New York ball park in September with everybody agreeing to call the winner the world champion.

Former Racing Greats Among 10 Elected to Hall of Fame

Detroit, Feb. 19 (AP)—Auto racing's newly organized Hall of Fame today opened its doors for the first time to receive the names of ten of the sport's pioneer greats.

Among those elected to the Hall of Fame, located at the Edison Institute in Greenfield Village, were such early racing greats as Barney Oldfield, Louis Chevrolet, Ray Harroun and Henry Ford.

Ralph Thomas, president of the American Automobile Association, and Col. Arthur W. Herrington, chairman of the AAA contest board, announced the 10 candidates last night at a dinner honoring the hall and its first tennants.

In addition to Oldfield, Chevrolet, Harroun, and Ford, representatives of the auto industry, the press, and auto racing, elected Bert Dingley, Carl Fisher, William K. Vanderbilt, Harvey Firestone, Sr., T. E. (Pop) Meyers, and Fred Wagner.

Of the 10 only Meyers, Harroun, and Dingley are alive. Meyers at 79, is still active in auto racing as a vice president of the Indianapolis Speedway.

Ford, the founder of the vast industrial empire, was one of the first auto racing enthusiasts. The automotive pioneer set the first recognized speed record for the mile in 1904. Ford furnished the car in which Oldfield drove to fame and battled Chevrolet in many speed duels.

Won First '500' Race

Harroun was the first driver to win the "500" at Indianapolis. He also won the AAA point crown for drivers in 1910.

Dingley won the point crown in 1909.

Oldfield and Chevrolet were the top early drivers. They battled each other for speed honors. Oldfield gained fame by driving Ford's famed "999" racing car.

Firestone was the founder of the tire company which developed the racing rubber that permits fantastic speeds today on the nation's speedways.

Fisher founded the Indianapolis speedway after a frustrating career as a race driver.

Vanderbilt, of the famed Long Island family, gained distinction as the first international race driver. He also established the famed Vanderbilt Cup Race.

Wagner was generally considered the first historian and publicist of the sport. He also was rated a top starter in auto racing, often drawing $1,000 for an appearance. Wagner is credited with devising the present flag system in use on the nation's speedways.

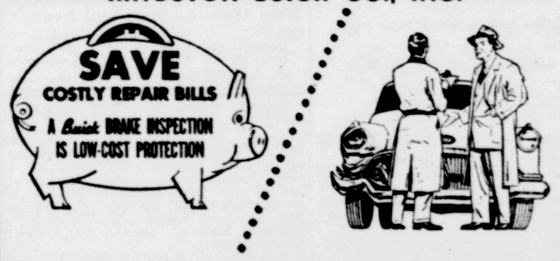

The first candidates for the Hall of Fame were limited to racing greats whose career dated prior to 1911. Next year the panel of selectors will pick auto racing immortals from the years 1911-1920. A 75 per cent majority of the votes cast is required for election to the Hall of Fame.

Won't Quit School

Rio Grande, O., Feb. 19 (AP)—Clarence (Bevo) Francis, the hottest thing in college basketball today, says he will stick by Rio Grande College and coach who pushed him into national prominence. Bevo denied he was going to leave Rio Grande and blamed misinterpretation of statements he made over a radio station for the report he might quit. Francis leads college cage scorers with 1,646 points in 33 games.

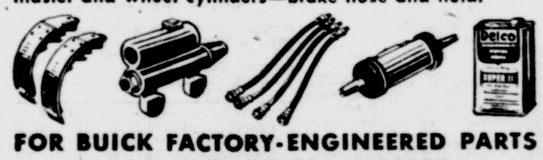

Monmouth Park ranked fifth among all race tracks in the nation in total purse distribution in 1952. The course dispersed $1,786,645 for a daily average of $36,308.

LEGAL NOTICES

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

A public hearing will be held on February 24, 1953, at 7:30 p. m. in the Common Council Chambers, City Hall, Kingston, New York, for the purpose of amending the Civil Service Rules.

The full text of the above amendments is available for inspection at the Mayor's office, City Hall, Kingston, New York.

KINGSTON MUNICIPAL CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION
Attest: Martin F. Kelly
Secretary
Dated, February 14, 1953

PUBLIC AUCTION

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that a public auction will be held at the school house, in Midway, Town of Marbletown, Ulster County, New York, on March 7th, 1953, at 2:00 p. m. of all the right, title and interest of former School District No. 10, of the Town of Marbletown, and of the Marbletown Central School District No. 3, of the Towns of Marbletown, Rochester and Rosendale, in and to the real property hereinafter described, and also in and to miscellaneous items of personal property.

The items of personal property will be offered for sale first; the first parcel hereinafter described, being the vacant parcel of land, will be offered for sale second; and the second parcel hereinafter described, on which is located the school house, will be offered for sale last.

Said real property is more particularly bounded and described as follows:

FIRST PARCEL

ALL THAT TRACT OR PARCEL OF LAND, situate in the Town of Marbletown, County of Ulster, and State of New York, bounded and described as follows, viz:

BEGINNING on the Easterly side of the public Highway or State Road at the Northwesterly corner of the present school grounds of said District No. 10, running thence South 43° 15' East Three Hundred and eight (308) feet; thence North 72° 30' East One Hundred and thirty-eight (138) feet; thence North 43° 15' West Three Hundred and seventy-four and two tenths (374.2) feet to the Easterly side of the State Road; thence South 40° West One Hundred twenty-eight and five tenths (128.5) feet, to the place of beginning, according to a survey made by N. C. McNeil, Surveyor, made May 26, 1913. Said parcel contains one acre of land.

Being the same premises described in a Deed executed by Alfred Lounsbury to School District No. 10, of the Town of Marbletown, dated May 28th, 1913, and recorded August 14th, 1914, in Book 448 of Deeds at page 424.

SECOND PARCEL.

ALL THAT SMALL LOT, PIECE OR PARCEL OF LAND lying in said Town of Marbletown on the southeast side of the old Highway in the neighborhood called Rest plans. Beginning at a chestnut post in the division fence between John Oakley and the said Gross Hasbrouck and running from thence southwesterly along said Old Highway one hundred and twenty one feet to a stake thence northeasterly to a stake one hundred and fourteen feet to the before mentioned division fence, thence along said division fence northwesterly sixty six feet to the place of beginning.

Being the same premises described in a Deed executed by Gross Hasbrouck and Sarah Ann, his wife, to Levi Schoonmaker, John B. Schoonmaker, and Daniel Schoonmaker, the trustees etc., dated March 11, 1850, and recorded May 14, 1850, in Book 76 of Deeds at page 83.

TERMS OF SALE: Personal property: cash; real estate: 20% of the final bid, at the time and place of sale, residue payable on or before April 7th, 1953, when a deed will be ready for delivery; purchaser will sign a memorandum of his purchase.

The sale of real property, or personal property, will be in an "as is" condition.

Dated, January 13th, 1953.

BY ORDER OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION OF MARBLETOWN CENTRAL SCHOOL DISTRICT NO. 3, OF THE TOWNS OF MARBLETOWN, ROCHESTER AND ROSENDALE, COUNTY OF ULSTER.

CORNELL UNIVERSITY STATE SCHOLARSHIPS

Notice pursuant to section 5710 of the Education Law as last amended by chapter 820, Laws of 1947, in effect July 1, 1947.

A competitive examination of candidates for the state scholarships in Cornell University, falling to the County of Ulster, will be held on March 4-5, 1953 at each secondary school in the county where Regents examinations are regularly held.

These scholarships provide a reduction of $200 from the annual tuition fee charged by the University.

Candidates must be at least 16 years of age and of six months' standing in the common schools or academies of the State during the year immediately preceding this examination, and must be legal residents of New York State and citizens of the United States.

The examination will be in three parts. The first two parts of the examination will be given Wednesday morning and afternoon; the third part will be given Thursday morning.

As previously, the examination will be based upon materials selected from those subjects or studies common to the school experience of all pupils.

There will be as many candidates appointed from this county as there are assembly districts in this county. Candidates will become entitled to the scholarships in the order of their merit.

Dated at Kingston, New York, this 9th day of February 1953.

No Public Probe

Attorney General James McInerney has said there was one, dated July 30, 1952. Former Attorney General James P. McGranery reportedly voided the alleged pact as soon as he heard of it.

The reported agreement was that New York city police and prosecutors—instead of the FBI—would investigate complaints of brutality and then report their findings to Washington.

Halley issued a statement saying such a secret agreement—if there was one—was "vicious."

Asked to Comment

The mayor later was asked to comment on Halley's suggestion of an open hearing of witnesses to set the record straight.

Impellitteri said he believed a federal grand jury, now investigating a specific case of alleged police brutality against two Negroes here, "would have broader powers to conduct an orderly, dignified and comprehensive investigation."

U. S. Attorney Myles J. Lane said the federal grand jury, which heard witnesses for the third successive day yesterday, was investigating only one case—that of two Negroes allegedly beaten in a police station last August.

The prosecutor said "two or three" witnesses appeared yesterday before the grand jury in the alleged beating of Jacob Jackson and Samuel Crawford.

New Paltz Caucus

designations two weeks prior to the election date and the March 3 date for the caucus comes just within that period.

Would Become Trustee

Robert Jansen is reported to have thrown his hat into the ring, seeking election to the village board of trustees against the incumbent Gregory Rheude. Dr. Roland Will, who seeks re-election, will probably be opposed by Marinus Petersen.

Jansen, owner of Jansen's Super Service Station, is reported to have stated that he wants to know that he is running independently and will advance a policy of more improvements in the village especially street repairs.

Pilch is reported to be advocating lower taxes.

The New Paltz Democratic Club, which is in the process of drafting a constitution and by-laws, and in making arrangements for the various standing committees of the new organization, is reported to be taking a neutral view in the situation since it has not yet been formally organized and is in no way situated to endorse any individual candidate at the March caucus. The steering committee of the New Paltz Democratic Club held a meeting on February 11 to discuss plans for the next general meeting. Arthur Jergensen, chairman of the committee, said that progress was being made in drafting the constitution and by-laws and making arrangements for naming committees.

When asked about the position that the New Paltz Democratic Club would take on the candidates before the village caucus on March 3, Jergensen stated that the formal organization of the club has not been completed, and, naturally, therefore, no plans have been made to endorse any candidate. He was of the opinion that the Steering Committee, while believing that the two party system would be beneficial in the community, would not wish to suggest any changes in the present non-partisan character of the village caucus at this time.

tric Corp., until April and the board deferred action until next month.

The annual street light cost has been about $60,000, the mayor said, and with some new increases it is expected to run between $63,000 and $64,000.

Commissioner Raymond L. Whitbeck, of the light committee, reported that 12 lights were recently improved in various sections of the city at no additional cost.

A resolution by Alderman William Parmelee, 13th Ward, asked the board to stop or divert a flow of water on Chapel street. This, he said, has been a menace for some time, and he asked for immediate remedial action.

Ernest A. Steuding, public works superintendent, said he had investigated and had found that the water came from a culvert on privately owned property. Because of this condition, the board decided to give it further study.

Another resolution by Martin W. Golden, Ninth Ward, asked for improved conditions at the skating rink near the MJM School. He asked that it be properly flooded and maintained. Mayor Newkirk explained that it had not been kept in the best shape this season, "because the temperature hasn't been low enough" for good skating.

The F. A. Bartlett Tree Expert Co., of Stamford, Conn., said it would cover the city's tree-spraying requirements at a cost of $300. The board deferred action on this pending study of another plan that could mean the combining of public and private projects at a lower cost.

Mayor Newkirk said he had made inspections of the Elizabeth street storm water sewer project during rains and it works perfectly. He suggested that members of the board make a tour of inspection.

The board voted, on recommendation of City Engineer Hallinan to pay $2,087.45 to Joseph Gruner for work done on construction of a storm water sewer on Miller's Lane between Browning Terrace and Fairmont avenue, and $9,071.20 to the Kingston Blacktop Paving & Construction Co., for work on the Clinton avenue trunk line sewer between Cedar and Henry streets.

New Storms Rip Several Sections

(By The Associated Press)

Dust and snowstorms whipped across southwest and western states today with the dust storms threatening heavy damage to the nation's winter wheat crop in sections of Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

A major storm area, centered in eastern Colorado, caused the third major dust storm in the last 10 days in the three states which supply most of the nation's wheat.

Strong southerly winds, with gusts up to 50 miles an hour, swirled over the wheatlands yesterday. Visibility was reduced sharply in many areas.

North and west of the storm center, snow fell in Colorado, western South Dakota and most of Wyoming. Lighter falls were reported northwest into the northern Rockies. Eight inches of fresh snow was reported in Lander, Wyo., and at Sheridan, Wyo., the fall measured five inches.

Other Wet Spots

There were other wet spots. Snow flurries continued in the northern Great Lakes and in the northeastern section of the country. Rain fell from eastern parts of Texas northward into southern Missouri. Rain or snow was in prospect for most of the north central region.

Colder air spread into the northern central plains as far south as northwestern Kansas. Warm air continued moving up the Mississippi valley through most of Illinois.

The navy said planes from the carriers Philippine Sea, Valley Forge and Kearsage flew more than 300 separate missions against Red targets in the Songjin and Pukchong areas yesterday.

Pilots reported one locomotive derailed, two bridges destroyed and 19 damaged; 14 box cars damaged; 28 buildings destroyed and 46 damaged; one truck destroyed and 33 oxcarts damaged.

tric Corp., until April and the board deferred action until next month.

The annual street light cost has been about $60,000, the mayor said, and with some new increases it is expected to run between $63,000 and $64,000.

Commissioner Raymond L. Whitbeck, of the light committee, reported that 12 lights were recently improved in various sections of the city at no additional cost.

A resolution by Alderman William Parmelee, 13th Ward, asked the board to stop or divert a flow of water on Chapel street. This, he said, has been a menace for some time, and he asked for immediate remedial action.

Ernest A. Steuding, public works superintendent, said he had investigated and had found that the water came from a culvert on privately owned property. Because of this condition, the board decided to give it further study.

Another resolution by Martin W. Golden, Ninth Ward, asked for improved conditions at the skating rink near the MJM School. He asked that it be properly flooded and maintained. Mayor Newkirk explained that it had not been kept in the best shape this season, "because the temperature hasn't been low enough" for good skating.

The F. A. Bartlett Tree Expert Co., of Stamford, Conn., said it would cover the city's tree-spraying requirements at a cost of $300. The board deferred action on this pending study of another plan that could mean the combining of public and private projects at a lower cost.

Mayor Newkirk said he had made inspections of the Elizabeth street storm water sewer project during rains and it works perfectly. He suggested that members of the board make a tour of inspection.

The board voted, on recommendation of City Engineer Hallinan to pay $2,087.45 to Joseph Gruner for work done on construction of a storm water sewer on Miller's Lane between Browning Terrace and Fairmont avenue, and $9,071.20 to the Kingston Blacktop Paving & Construction Co., for work on the Clinton avenue trunk line sewer between Cedar and Henry streets.

New Storms Rip Several Sections

(By The Associated Press)

Dust and snowstorms whipped across southwest and western states today with the dust storms threatening heavy damage to the nation's winter wheat crop in sections of Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

A major storm area, centered in eastern Colorado, caused the third major dust storm in the last 10 days in the three states which supply most of the nation's wheat.

Strong southerly winds, with gusts up to 50 miles an hour, swirled over the wheatlands yesterday. Visibility was reduced sharply in many areas.

North and west of the storm center, snow fell in Colorado, western South Dakota and most of Wyoming. Lighter falls were reported northwest into the northern Rockies. Eight inches of fresh snow was reported in Lander, Wyo., and at Sheridan, Wyo., the fall measured five inches.

Other Wet Spots

There were other wet spots. Snow flurries continued in the northern Great Lakes and in the northeastern section of the country. Rain fell from eastern parts of Texas northward into southern Missouri. Rain or snow was in prospect for most of the north central region.

Colder air spread into the northern central plains as far south as northwestern Kansas. Warm air continued moving up the Mississippi valley through most of Illinois.

Temperatures generally were above normal levels. One of the cold spots today was International Falls, Minn., where it was one below zero. Warmest was in the southwest. Yesterday's top reading was 81 in Presidio, Tex.

Two Meetings Are Open to Farmers

State College of Agriculture Extension Service will conduct two "Green Acres" meetings in this county next week, it was announced today by Robert D. Guzewich, associate Ulster county agricultural agent.

Samuel Aldrich, agronomy specialist, will conduct the first day's session at the Lake Katrine Grange Hall on Tuesday, Feb. 24. Sessions, beginning at 10:30 a. m., will include talks on oats and winter wheat for Ulster county, insect sprays for alfalfa and other legumes, Birdsfoot trefoil, chemical weed control and fertilizers and lime. Another talk, scheduled for 1:15 p. m., will advise farmers, "You can grow 18 tons of corn silage or 100 bushels of shelled corn per acre." Final period of the day at 3 p. m. will feature a farmer panel on the general topic of "Green Acres Pastures," followed by a general discussion. Luncheon will be served by ladies of the Grange.

The meeting on Wednesday, Feb. 25, will be held at the Gardiner Reformed Church and will be in charge of Samuel Slack, animal husbandry specialist, and Hugh Wilson, soil specialist. Discussions, beginning at 10:30 a. m., include new information on raising calves and heifers, local study of tillage, structure and water intake of soils, feeding values of hay, drainage methods, and making best use of pastures. A discussion will follow. Luncheon will be served by ladies of the church.

First Lenten Service Is Held at Church

The first of a series of Lenten discussion services to be held each Wednesday of Lent at the Fair Street Church was held last evening with the Rev. J. Dean Dykstra, pastor of the church, leading the discussion. These meetings will be held in the Sunday school auditorium of the church each Wednesday during Lent. The services will be preceded by a "covered dish" supper at 6:15 with one of the organizations of the church acting as host each week.

For the opening service the Couples Club was host and the Eendracht Guild will be host next Wednesday.

Officers were elected at a meeting of the Couples Club following the Lenten service. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Emerick were elected president; Mr. and Mrs. William G. Newkirk, vice-president, and Mr. and Mrs. George Dingee, secretary-treasurer. Included on the entertainment program was a showing of "baby pictures" of members of the club, with those present being asked to identify the person as the photograph was projected on the screen.

Child Health Clinic

A child health conference conducted by the Ulster County Health Department will be held at the clinic rooms, 25 East O'Reilly street, February 24 from 10 to 12 noon. These clinics are limited to infant and preschool children for administering of immunizations for smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough.

Airport Is Darkened

Will Hold Elections

New York, Feb. 19 (AP)—Two elections among 4,300 employes of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company in the metropolitan area and downstate counties will be held today by the National Labor Relations Board. One of them, a board spokesman said, will determine whether 2,500 meat and grocery department employes want a union shop clause retained in stores in the counties of New York, Bronx, Westchester, Putman and Dutchess.
